1,000 Flee From Homes in Flooded Northwest Areas

By United Press International

Rivers, burdened with heavy rains and melted snow, forced more than 1,000 persons from their homes in the Northwest Saturday. Heavy snow lay knee-deep in Montana. Arctic cold brought 50 below zero temperatures to the upper Midwest. Surging rivers surged over flood stage in Oregon, forcing at least 150 families to leave their homes and causing the collapse of a small dam on the Clackamas river. Authorities said the dam break was not threatening downstream areas.

The rising Willamette river climbed above flood stage in western Oregon. More families were left homeless, while others were isolated. Slides and washouts hampered highway and rail traffic. Helicopters joined in rescue operations.

Gushing waters poured into Boise, posing what officials described as a serious situation. Water rapidly rose from Cottonwood creek at the east end of Boise.

Volunteers built a wall of sandbags around the emergency entrance at St. Luke's hospital in Boise. In other areas the sandbags gave way to torrential pressure.

State police reported almost all roads leading up to northern Idaho were closed.

Forecasters were optimistic, however, that Pacific Northwest flooding would not be as widespread as last month when 42 persons lost their lives and nearly 250 million dollars in property was damaged.

As much as 20 inches of snow covered the eastern two-thirds of Montana. The heaviest amounts fell in the mountains, 12 to 15 inches at lower altitudes.

Jostling at Dance Class Fatal to Girl

RUPERT, Jan. 30 — A pathologist said an accidental jostling at a dancing class apparently aggravated a congenital defect which killed a 12-year-old Rupert girl Friday.

Carol Rucker was accidentally poked in the eye by an elbow at her dancing class after school Friday. After she reached home the pain in her head became severe.

The girl died at 8 p.m. Friday, shortly after she was taken to a hospital.

An autopsy Saturday morning revealed that a cerebral aneurism, or ballooning of a blood vessel, had ruptured and had caused Carol's death. The pathologist, Dr. John Broz, Twin Falls, said the aneurism was a congenital defect and it could have ruptured at any time.

Carol was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rucker, route 5, Rupert.

She was born June 18, 1952, at Tremonton, Utah, and was a student at Washington junior high school at Rupert. She came to Rupert with her family eight years ago from Utah.

Surviving, besides her parents, are a brother, Robert Curtis Rucker, and a sister, Connie Gene Rucker, both Rupert; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Alverta Leatham, Wellsville, Utah, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Rucker, Brigham City, Utah.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Rupert LDS stake tabernacle by Bishop Carl Garner. Final rites will be held at Rupert cemetery. Friends may call at Walk mortuary Monday afternoon and until time of services Tuesday.

Search for Lost Plane Is Called Off

BOISE, Jan. 30 (UPI)—A search for a missing J. R. Simplot company plane was called off late today and the case given the Oregon aeronautics department when it was learned the pilot landed in Boise, then continued his trip to Portland.

However, Idaho Aeronautics Department Director Chet Moulton said a check with the Portland field showed today the single engine plane did not reach Portland.

The plane carried Simplot Pilot Galen Stone, 54, and his wife, Esther, 51, both Pocatello.

Moulton said he learned late today that Stone landed at Boise municipal airport about 9:30 a.m. Wednesday and talked to the owner of a private flying service before taking off for his Portland destination.

The plane left Pocatello early Wednesday morning on a maintenance flight to Troutdale, Ore., a suburb east of Portland. Stone was on a maintenance flight for parts at Portland, Moulton said.

The last official report from Stone was received Wednesday morning when Stone radioed Burley airport for a weather report.

"He called Burley and no other stations and this was contrary to his habits," Moulton said. "He normally would call every station. He was what we call a 'radio-user.'"

Some 20 planes from southern Idaho airports launched a search for Stone and his Cessna Skylane today. The aircraft is painted an orange - red and yellow with black trim.

Blick "Wouldn't Be Caught Dead" With Legislator Tag

By ROBIN TIBBETS

BOISE, Jan. 30—Other members of the Idaho senate must have had the same opinion of the free parking privileges for legislators as did Sen. George Blick, R., Twin Falls.

Tibbets

Senator Blick said before the measure came up in the senate that he felt legislators did not deserve the parking privileges which the bill, without amendments, would have allowed.

It would have permitted senators and representatives and the lieutenant governor to park anywhere in Idaho at anytime without having to pay parking meter fees or fines.

The Castleford senator, who is majority leader of the senate, said he felt legislators should be allowed to sign parking tickets received in Boise while attending actual sessions of their particular legislative body. The tickets would then be voided at the police station.

The bill, as amended, authorizes tags on legislators' cars identifying them as senators or representatives, a provision which was part of the original bill. It does not permit free parking.

But Blick went even further with his criticism of the bill. He said he didn't care for the idea of having his car identified with special plates as one belonging to a senator.

"I wouldn't be caught dead with them on my car," he quipped.

Roadblock by Lions Club Nets $341.61

Decked out in their Keystone Cap uniforms, the Twin Falls Lions netted $343.61 in a roadblock from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday on Addison avenue west, to donate to the United Fund.

About 25 Lions and 12 Fellons worked on the collection, assisted by the Twin Falls city police department.

The roadblock project has been practiced for several years, but this is the first year the Lions club has given the collected money to the United Fund.

Uniforms for the road toll were rented from a costume house in Salt Lake City.

Thaw Causes Trouble on Area Roads

Many sections of roads in Magic Valley were reported impassable Saturday afternoon, but there was no great danger of major flooding, officials said.

Some roads in Minidoka county were reported impassable, with water running over them. Harland Davidson, superintendent of Minidoka county highway district, said although the main roads were open, many county roads were impassable.

Several streams and rivers in Magic Valley were reported receding Saturday. Threat of possible flooding in Lincoln county subsided after highway district crews blasted ice jams in the Jim Byrnes slough Friday.

Runoff from melting snows in the south hills has greatly increased this month, compared to last year at this time.

Auditorium Board, City Mull Problem

By G. H. CHAMBERS

About a dozen members of the Civic Auditorium board and members of the Twin Falls city commission met Friday afternoon at the Rogerson hotel to exchange ideas and consider the status of the urban renewal bill now pending in the Idaho legislature. While those attending couldn't do much about the status of the pending bill, they mulled over several ideas concerning the future of the civic auditorium. The meeting was informal and there were no hard, clear - cut decisions made concerning the proposed building. It was simply an exchange of ideas.

Auditorium committee Chairman, Dr. Harry Brumbach, pointed out that only three states in the union do not have permissive legislation concerning urban renewal.

Those three states are Idaho, Wyoming and Utah.

The auditorium situation currently is caught up in a combination of ideas and proposals.

First, there is a proposal to build the auditorium with the comittee funds, and the last survey of the subscribers indicate they want it downtown.

The second proposal entered the picture when the city began work and appointed a committee to study the problems of the main business district. The city and the group felt that a professional group could do a better job, and began action to investigate the possibility of seeking public law 701 funds.

The auditorium group was invited to participate in this study.

Next, the urban renewal idea entered the picture and the idea of building a downtown complex was discussed.

City Manager H. L. Derrick has said publicly for some months that Twin Falls needs a new police and fire protection building and the city would be clear of building bonded indebtedness in October.

Derrick has advanced the idea of combining the new police and

Benefits

MONTPELIER, Vt., Jan. 30 (UPI) — The Vermont treasury is reaping the benefits of the lack of snowfall in the state's ski areas last month.

The state liquor control board reported yesterday that liquor sales jumped 70 per cent over a comparable period in 1963. That meant a tax windfall of $221,000.

The state attributed the increase in consumption in part to would-be skiers who hit the bars instead of the slopes.

ARRAIGNED

BOISE, Jan. 30 (UPI)—Sgt. Milas Adkins, 33, a pest control inspector with 14 years in the air force, was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Winston H. Churchill on charges of bribery.

Hearings Planned On Water Agency, Education Fund

BOISE, Jan. 30 (AP)— Measures dealing with distribution of state education funds and creation of a water resources agency will get an airing next week in public hearings scheduled by Idaho legislative committees. The lawmakers wound up the fourth week of their 1965 session today with a brief meeting of the house and senate called to move a backlog of bills closer to final action. It was the first Saturday session for both houses. Introduced in the house were five bills providing for extension of the terms of city officials from two to four years and removal of state limitations on their salaries.

At present a city of the first class may pay its mayor no more than $10,000 per year and its councilmen not more than $2,400. The proposed legislation would eliminate those ceilings.

The senate, in a 32-minute session, moved nine bills from the second to third reading calendar, where they join seven advanced Friday and five held over. That makes a total of 21 up for final consideration.

They include two dealing with liquor. One would permit sale of packaged liquor by establishments holding liquor by the drink licenses. The other would permit sale of liquor by the drink at airports owned or operated by counties or municipalities. Such sale now is permitted only at airports within city limits.

The house added three bills to its third reading calendar in a 21-minute session.

Administrators of the state's 124 local school districts have been invited to attend the hearings on the school fund formula bill scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday nights.

They will be furnished with tables prepared by the house education committee showing how much their districts would receive under the proposed formula with state appropriations ranging from 50 million dollars to 65 million dollars. The computations also will be available to legislators.

Rep. Frank Hirschi, R., Bear Lake, education committee chairman, said the hearings were called to determine if an adjustment is needed in the proposed sparsity factor, which gives sparsly populated districts greater amounts of state aid.

He said the smaller districts with low assessed valuation may need additional state aid and that the sparsity factor portion of the formula may be changed to help them.

But he said the revised factor probably wouldn't apply to smaller districts with a high assessed valuation.

He pointed out that these districts can fill their financial needs with a relatively low mill levy rate and don't need additional state aid.

The hearings on the state water resources agency proposal will cover bills proposed by western Idaho irrigation companies and a 31-member study committee appointed a year ago by Gov. Robert E. Smylie. They are scheduled for Wednesday and Friday mornings.

Sen. Herbert K. Whitworth, R., Caribou, chairman of the senate irrigation and reclamation committee, said his group and the house agriculture committee will join with the public resources committees of both chambers in conducting the hearings.

Whitworth's committee introduced the irrigation company bill earlier in the session. The second bill was put in the senate hopper by the public resources committee yesterday.

Hailey Man Appointed to State Post

BOISE, Jan. 30 (AP)— Appointment of a Hailey public school superintendent as executive secretary of the Idaho High School Interscholastic Activities associations was announced today.

Chosen for the assignment is Homer D. Williams, superintendent of schools at Hailey. He begins his new duties next Aug. 1.

Announcement of his appointment was made by William Elmer, Grangeville, president of the association. It was made public at association headquarters in Boise.

Williams will succeed E. F. Grider, who has served in the position for more than 29 years. For many years the position was a part-time one and Grider also taught at Boise high school. It was made a full-time job July 1, 1963.

The association supervises all competitive activities, including athletics, debate, declamation and music, among Idaho high schools.

Driver Listed Critical After Auto Mishap

Harold Buckendorf, 243 Borah avenue west, remained in critical condition Saturday night in Twin Falls Clinic hospital, with injuries he sustained in a two-car headon collision Friday night.

A westbound 1957 Chevrolet convertible driven by Karole Duncan, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Duncan, route 1, Jerome, was struck headon by the 1962 Falcon stationwagon driven by Buckendorf on state highway 79 about a mile west of the junctions of highways 93 and 79.

State police noted the accident occurred when Buckendorf crossed over into Miss Duncan's lane of traffic.

Miss Duncan was listed in fairly good condition Saturday in St. Benedict's hospital with chest injuries.

Buckendorf underwent emergency surgery at St. Benedict's hospital before being transferred to Twin Falls. It was reported he had severe head and chest injuries, a fractured left leg and internal injuries.

Majestic Funeral Is Given for Churchill

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)— Sir Winston Churchill was consigned to the ages today in a country churchyard at Bladon, forever a part of the English soil he loved and shielded so fiercely. The eloquent old statesman slipped into history after a majestic and solemn state funeral at St. Paul's cathedral. Kings, queens, commoners, presidents, prime ministers and statesmen from all the continents sat under the imposing dome of St. Paul's to honor the man who as prime minister thrilled the anti-nazi world in 1940 with his defiant boast: "We shall never surrender."

More than 3,000 of the noble and the lowly mingled in the vast cathedral, which echoed to the strains of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," an American hymn.

Years before his death, Sir Winston asked that the hymn be sung at his funeral "in memory of my American mother," Jennie Jerome of New York.

Lady Churchill, 79, and her son, Randolph, were seated only a short distance from Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip. The royal chairs faced the catafalque from the west. Lady Churchill and Randolph were in the first row of mourner's benches in the south transept, facing the catafalque from the south. Only a few feet intervened.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman represented the United States. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, head of the delegation, had a cold and on doctors orders did not attend the funeral. President Johnson had been barred by his doctors from coming to London because of a cold.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower attended as a guest of the Churchill family. As a launch bore Sir Winston's body up the Thames river later, Eisenhower went on British television and said the United States was glad to claim as its own his old comrade-in-arms.

When the 30-minute service, conducted amid all the glitter of royalty, was over, Sir Winston's coffin was taken up the Thames to Festival pier and Waterloo station. From there, it was taken by train to Bladon, where Churchill was buried beside his mother and his father, Lord Randolph Churchill. The brief burial service was rigidly private.

Police estimated that more than a million persons poured out of their homes in a raw wind to line the London route of march.

Some sat in the streets all night to watch the procession from Westminster hall to St. Paul's. Churchill's coffin had lain in state in the hall for three days while 306,166 persons passed in respect and affection. This was more than the 305,806 who filed past the bier of King George VI in 1952.

Guard Units Are Below Strength

BOISE, Jan. 30 (UPI)—Lieut. Col. James S. Brooks, chief of staff and assistant adjutant general, said many units in the Idaho army national guard are below full strength.

"Operation 400," he said, "will be our major recruiting drive in February. We hope to gain at least 400 new guardsmen during the drive."

SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

Another Pacific storm system has entered the coastal areas of Washington and southwestern Canada and is expected to move into the valleys of southern Idaho Sunday. This next system will produce periods of precipitation mostly in the form of rain in the lower valleys, but cooler air following the disturbance will allow the snow level to between 4,000 and 6,000 feet. Higher pressures following the disturbance will allow a partial clearing of the skies over most of the area by Sunday night.

Flooding potential will continue to be of some concern with the prospect of rain, but as the snow level lowers over the mountains the runoff problem over the mountains will be alleviated somewhat.

Cooling will take place over these valleys Sunday and Sunday night with high readings during the day mostly in the mid 30s to the mid 40s and night time lows falling to in the 20s to the mid 30s.

Winds will continue to be gusty on Sunday

Skies were mostly cloudy over southern Idaho Saturday and precipitation generally was light and scattered.

Auditorium

fire building, the auditorium and adequate parking into one central area downtown or close to the city hall. This could come under the heading of urban renewal.

An urban renewal project requires that there is some governmental agency on the local level to administer the program.

This could lead to the abandonment of the present auditorium board and having the city commission appoint a board to supervise the running of an auditorium much like the airport commission and the library board supervise their facilities.

One advantage to a local governmental agency control would be that it would have the power to condemn property and other means available under due process of law.

Urban renewal funds could be available at the rate of three dollars to every local dollar spent. In other words, the board and the city could possibility come up with additional money for the auditorium and the 1,200 seat building could be a reality.

The big drawback is that government action moves slowly and about one-third of the auditorium funds have been collected.

On suggestion of U.N. Terry, it was decided that the man from home housing finance agency, a Mr. Sullivan from San Francisco, be invited to Twin Falls to discuss the procedure with both groups and help in outlining a program to follow.

In the meantime, the city and the auditorium board have many other problems to work out.

One problem could be, "Is all this legal?"

Another problem is, where does the city and the board stand on proposition of the downton study, and how long will all this take?

Salmon River Canal company, said in the past 24 hours the inflow into Salmon reservoir increased about 600 second feet. This is due to the fast melting snow in the area.

He added that the inflow during January was about 6,000 acre feet, as compared to 3,500 acre feet during January last year.

He added that there was no indication of flooding in the area.

Two ski areas in Magic Valley were closed Saturday. Magic mountain was closed because the snow was too slushy and Pomerelle, because its equipment is covered with a heavy coating of ice. Magic mountain will not open Sunday due to the conditions.

Soldier ski area was reported open Saturday and a large crowd was skiing there.

All of the ski runs at Sun Valley were open Saturday. Skiing conditions above the first stop on Bald mountain were listed as "excellent," with 95 inches of snow at the top of Bald mountain and 84 inches at the Roundhouse.

North Fork store, north of Ketchum, reported warm weather had required the highway department to remove the slush from the road.

The road to Galena summit still is closed, with several slides blocking the road on the other side.

A meeting to discuss flood conditions in the Wood River valley was held Saturday morning. The soil conservation officer, a county commissioner and a representative of the army engineers and the Wood River irrigation district walked over the channel of the Little Wood river and found two places where the debris was under the ice.

The men want to begin turning the water out of Little Wood River reservoir, but won't be able to do so until all the debris is removed, or the alfalfa fields will be flooded and the plants killed.

They will try to use sodium chloride and calcium chloride to loosen the debris and will backhoe it to turn it out.

Roads to Hailey were reported slushy, but with no flood danger yet.

Load Limit Restrictions Are Reported

SHOSHONE, Jan. 30 — Load limits in Magic Valley will go in effect Feb. 12, reports Blaine Sessions, district highway engineer.

Sessions said the restrictions pertain to all highways in this district. He said trucks and buses with a gross weight of 10,000 are restricted to a maximum of 30 miles an hour. The restricted speed zones in the district are marked by red and yellow. The red markers indicate speed of 30 miles per hour and yellow markers indicate that legal speeds may be resumed.

Highways affected by the restrictions are state highway 50 from U.S. highway 30E at Bliss to Declo, U.S. 93 from Nevada-Idaho line to Hailey, U.S. 30S from Burley to Utah-Idaho line, U.S. 30 from King Hill to Burley, state highway 24 from Rupert to Minidoka-Lincoln county line, and state 79 from Jerome to junction of U.S. highway 93.

U.S. highway 20-26 from Bliss to Carey, state highway 50 from Twin Falls to junction of state highway 25, state 77 from Declo to Malta, state 68 from Hill City to junction of highway 93, state 23 from Carey to Bellevue and state highway 27 from Oakley to Burley.

Special permits for over legal weights will not be issued for travel on any highway in this district, Sessions said.

In reporting on current construction work of the district, highway officials here state work is at a low ebb at this time, due to weather conditions. About all the weather permits is some cement structure work on interchanges, overpasses or drainage structures.

There is some of this type of work going on at Hagerman, U. S. highway 30, north and south of Hagerman by Duffy Reed company. This is at Billingly creek by the Rock lodge, one mile north of Hagerman.

In commenting on another spot where some work is being done, officials state a summer finish date is anticipated for a six-mile strip south from Malad river bridge to the new Gridley bridge. This, upon completion, will make a fine road between Bliss and Buhl.

Most interstate work, except the job at Jerome, hasn't gotten underway as yet.

Data on winter-spring road breakup cannot be estimated for some time.

Death Takes Shoshone's 'Santa Claus'

SHOSHONE, Jan. 30—Albert Bayliff, 85, longtime resident of Shoshone, died at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Woodriver Convalescent center, where he had been a patient for four years.

He was born July 23, 1879, at Oxford, England, and was married to Maggie McCaffery in London just before they came to the United States in 1905. Prior to coming to the United States he served in the British army, seeing two years of action in Africa in the Boer campaign.

His wife preceded him in death in 1940. He was a farmer in north Shoshone until retirement in 1937, when he moved to Shoshone, after which he worked as a gardener for Edward Gooding.

To countless children he was known as Santa Claus, with truckloads of repaired toys that he delivered to the Elk's Childrens home and Orphans' Childrens home, Boise, and the Deaf and Blind school, Gooding.

For about 10 years he spent all of his time gathering parts of old toys and turned his house into a Santa's workshop. Just before Christmas he would load the big truck and deliver the toys.

He also was endeared to Shoshone children because he repaired their toys when they were broken. Mr. Bayliff was a member of the Church of England.

The only survivors are several nieces and nephews in Shoshone and England. He was also preceded in death by two sons, five brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Bergin funeral chapel, Shoshone, with the Rep. Paul Winkler officiating. Concluding rites will be held at Shoshone cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral chapel Tuesday and until time of services Wednesday.

The biggest increase in the budget was in the charity and indigent account which increased from $45,750 to $55,150 for 1965.

Departments which show increases are clerk, auditor and recorder from $15,920 to $18,765; assessor, $15,920 to $17,900; county agent from $11,475 to $11,705; courthouse building from $9,030 to $10,710; district court, from $4,500 to $4,800; board of health from $10,980 to $12,750; sheriff from $22,710 to $23,160; charity and indigent from $45,750 to $55,150, and treasurer from $11,635 to $12,175.

Decreases were shown in fair operation and maintenance accounts in the amount of $625; elections, $9,500, and weed eradications $2,180.

Departments remaining unchanged were airport, attorney, commissioners, coroner, probate court, justice court, reserve and civil defense.

Mrs. McVey stated that a detailed breakdown of the proposed budget is open for inspection in her office.

The approximate revenue other than taxes, in 1964 amounted to $86,637.04 from the various departments. This was an approximate increase of $4,00[illegible] over 1964.
over 1963.

More Tax Money

When all other expenses increase, the costs of government must inevitably increase. This is one of the hard facts of life that most taxpayers would prefer not to face. Unless something drastic in the way of property tax relief is forthcoming from the current session of the state legislature, taxpayers will have appreciably higher tax bills to pay on real estate toward the end of the year.

Currently, Twin Falls homeowners are in the process of getting the bad news, although they may not recognize it. Notices are being distributed to report new valuations of real property. Some valuations may be lower, but most will be somewhat higher. At the same time, county and city commissions are reporting plans to spend more money in the next budgets, but emphasis on no changes for mill levies might mislead some property owners. The tax bill will increase merely because property valuations have been raised.

Property with an evaluation of $1,200 brings a tax bill of $62.40 from a 52-mill levy, for example. When the same property is evaluated at $1,400, the same levy brings a tax bill of $72.80. Here is the reason a governmental unit can have a larger budget without raising its mill levy. The net effect is the same and property owners should understand what is happening. Actually if a governmental unit desires to "hold the line" it should decrease its mill levy when property valuations are raised.

On the other side of the fence, all taxpayers should realize that governmental expenses aren't immune to the forces that increase all other expenses, including those of the individual.

DANGER THREATENS

Winter sports enthusiasts need an occasional reminder of the dangers that can accompany their activities. One public reminder came last week-end when a teen-aged skier left the skiing slopes at Bogus Basin near Boise and became lost in a blizzard. Fortunately, searchers found the youth and rescued him before the incident became a tragedy.

A similar, but unpublicized incident at Magic Mountain last week-end involved three Twin Falls skiers. The three, Harald Gerber, O. J. Smith and Mrs. Royal Slotten, left the general skiing area in a blinding snowstorm. They knew where they wanted to go, but limited vision resulted in a wrong turn that took them away from the skiing area. When they realized what had happened, they retraced their route, returning to the Magic Mountain parking lot after everyone had left the area.

The two incidents should serve as a warning to all winter sports enthusiasts of the potential dangers waiting for the unwary.

A new element that could compound the threat of danger is the introduction of small snow vehicles. Ownership of the devices has been growing and many persons are visiting mountain districts where winter visitors were unknown before. Possible mechanical failure of the snow vehicles and the ever-present threat of avalanches are the two biggest threats to those using the new devices.

As one forest service employe puts it, "We have hundreds—perhaps thousands—of avalanches every winter. They just rumble off down the mountain and except for a few trees, there's no damage or possibility of danger. But when you introduce people into the area you have the makings of a possible tragedy."

It's something for everyone to keep in mind while enjoying a winter outing. Extreme cold that's common in the winter doesn't permit a person to make too many mistakes.

BOSTON CHANGES

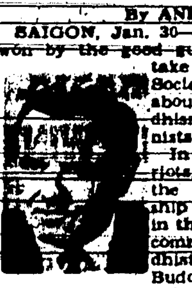
For generations, Boston has been synonymous with staidness and sedateness. The center of New England culture has acquired a reputation that's akin to snobbery. But Boston, like all other cities, changes and many of the oldtime Boston residents aren't going to like some of the changes associated with Boston. And what a change! Instead of being noted as the center of blue-nosed good taste, Boston is becoming known as a city of fear and bloodshed.

Boston's notorius "strangler" who has accounted for a dozen feminine victims is still at large and police apparently are no closer than ever in solving a string of deaths. As if that weren't enough, Boston police have "declared war" on an underworld that has spawned a gang warfare which claimed 18 lives of hoodlums in 10 months. That toll may not approach records achieved in Chicago during the Windy City's best crime days, but it's a pretty distasteful record, especially for Boston.

Somehow it's hard to identify Boston with a strangler who limits his victims to women or with gang warfare. But Boston, like many other American cities, is subject to change. And changes aren't always for the better, as many Boston residents probably would be quick to agree right now.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY



Andrew Tully

SAIGON, Jan. 30—While this war can still be won by the good guys, Washington had better take time out from the Great Society to decide what to do about the infiltration of Buddhism in Viet Nam by communists and young-punk hoodlums.

In the wake of anti-American riots, it is at least ironic to hear the befuddled Buddhists leadership insist that there are no reds in their sect. The fact is that the communists are using the Buddhists daily, largely because the Buddhist leadership is irresponsible and either unable or unwilling to take the war seriously.

• • •

DISORDER FOR SALE—Those silly teen-agers who break windows in the U. S. information service buildings are nobodies who would be hustled off to pokey by an alert and responsible constabulary. But they do business because they are in the employ of the reds and because they have sold their hoodlum tactics to lower-case Buddhist leaders who will use anybody to further their superstitious aims. Those aims seek to reduce Viet Nam to a state of political chaos, so the people will turn to the Buddhists for a national leadership the Buddhists are incapable of providing.

The Buddhists yammer about Viet Nam's "unstable" government and its lack of "revolutionary" fervor, but they offer no alternative. All they want to do is raise old-fashioned hell, to woo the people away from the politicians and the military and back to religion.

It is a tragic joke when the venerable Thich Tam Chau tells a Japanese delegation there is "no communist infiltration in Buddhist leadership." Tam Chau believes this; he is an honorable man. But unfortunately he doesn't know the score. As his Japanese visitors so wryly put it, his statement was "most interesting."

• • •

AMERICANS WANT CRACKDOWN — Tam Chau apparently refuses to acknowledge the "infiltration" of Buddhist leadership ranks by illiterate, demagogic monks seeking power. As in the past, the Viet Cong is reaching these monks through undisciplined students and aimless street fighters who persuade them that only by violence can Buddhist aims — whatever they are — be achieved.

American leadership here knows the score. Officials in the highest circles say the time has come to insist that the Saigon regime crack down on the Buddhists. But they are under heavy pressure from Washington to watch their step, to try to avoid alienating the country's dominant religion. Yet they know the war cannot be pursued unless the government can keep order in its own house.

There will be no protection for Americans or American establishments until the government acts. More important, there can be no efficient carrying-on of the war until the Buddhists are put in their place. The police are a joke. Vietnamese sneer at them as "white mice"—a slur at both their spotless uniforms and their timidity in times of stress.

COULD BE A FORCE—But the cops are jokes because the Saigon regime is too pusillanimous to make them an effective weapon of power. Under proper, courageous leadership, the "white mice" could be made to roar like lions. They have the weapons and the numbers to control those young bums who make trouble, but they lack the authority to do so, and that authority can only come from the top.

There is nothing wrong with American leadership here. From Ambassador Maxwell Taylor down, the Americans who are helping the Vietnamese to fight their war of independence are trying to keep this show on the road. But they will fail unless Washington makes it clear to the Saigon regime that we didn't come to Viet Nam to be pushed around by a gaggle of hoodlums.

Views of Others

AGAINST DULLARDNESS

Americans are learning a new trick. They can shut their ears. Like the hapless inhabitants of Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World" who didn't hear the endless sound drumming on their ears simply because it was endless, many Americans are developing an immunity to bad taste in commercials. A steady TV fan can stare at the most cajoling or threatening advertisement and never know what product he is being urged to eat, wear, or feed the cat. He doesn't know what might make him lose his friends, his job or "that crisp look." Nothing registers.

But tuned-out intelligence runs a risk. For there is always a point at which bad taste grows into a moral problem. For example, should one tune out the toy manufacturer who is now using television to sell his war games? Children are told about the "fun" they can have pretending to bomb "the enemy." To bring the message home they are shown what is apparently a newsreel sequence of actual aerial combat. The "enemies" are German.

There is the further risk that tuning-out will become a habit even when the TV set is off. If people were not also tuning out billboards, what would be said of the latest giant poster of a vegetable supplier? At first glance it is an attractive full-color portrait of the Statue of Liberty. A closer look shows that instead of a torch Liberty hold high "beside the golden door" a bunch of green broccoli.

With incidents abroad evoking a special feeling of proud protectiveness toward America's national symbols, there is something ironic about American firms getting laughs (and profits) from Liberty.

It has become easy to ignore bad taste, pleasanter to keep our ears and eyes shut. Like the householder who hears a creaking stair in the middle of a cold night, we can turn over and go back to sleep. If we are sufficiently dulled, perhaps we won't even notice next day that all the silver has gone.—Christian Science Monitor.

CZARS DEFY IDAHO

Czarism by committee chairmens is a proper target for congressional reform.

East Idaho is now witnessing the power excesses of two powerful committee chairman who can sit indefinitely on legislation which, for reasons of personal pique or political disaster, has met with their disfavor. Their defiance can have a profound influence on Idaho's economy the next few years.

Cong. Harold Cooley, the flinty chairman of the house agriculture committee, has been holding up over-obvious legislation which would permit sugar processors to market increased sugar quotas. The increased sugar quotas, it should be pointed out, resulted from an appeal by the government to the sugar industry to expand production in the wake of Cuba's sinking into the communist ocean. Here is a situation where processors have added expensive facilities and sugar beet growers have expanded their acreage by more than double to give this nation sugar production stability. And yet Congressman Cooley to this day has detoured this obligated legislation.

Funding for the Fremont dam on Teton river and possibly the Ririe dam on Willow creek is now in jeopardy because Cong. Michael Kirwan, D., O., is miffed at Idaho politics. Reports from Washington, D. C., indicate he fully intends to carry out his threat of denying funds to the Fremont dam if Cong. Ralph Harding were not elected. You see, Congressman Kirwan is all-powerful chairman of the all-powerful house appropriations committee.

Proposed procedural changes aimed at the rules committee, especially calling for mandatory action after 21 days of committee sitdown, is deserving of widespread consideration in congress during 1965.—Idaho Falls Post-Register.

POT SHOTS

INVITE THEM

Dear Sir:

I got some information for Per Plexed to answer the item in Pot Shots Jan. 12, but to tell the true story, I may step on Pot Shots' toes. I am also a lover of birds, but birds don't want to be places where there are dogs or cats around.

I have built a rock drinking fountain with the drinking basin about six feet above the ground and a water pipe built in the center of the rock into the basin one-fourth of an inch from the top of the basin. An overflow in the basin goes down in the rock for about three feet and then to the outside of the rock so I connect a hose on the pipe and lead the water from the overflow to water the garden and flowers.

The birds like this fountain so well at times from one to six birds drink at the same time. I have seem 11 different kinds of birds drink at my fountain.

There is one thing that hurts me, that is when a good-for-nothing cat comes along and snaps up a bird when the birds are working their best on my rosebushes and other shrubbery to pick off the bugs.

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

Interpreting the News

By JAMES MARLOW
(AP News Analyst)

James Marlow

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—If the world seems unusually quiet these days, even dull, one reason is that President John F. Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev were better actors, travelers and talkers than their successors. With them gone, this has become the era of the technicians in Washington and Moscow. But those two capitals aren't the only places where the sparkle has diminished.

The pulse of the world has slowed down because there is not one truly dramatic figure left, or except for French President Charles de Gaulle, and he's old and he's been playing it cool.

Yet this century has had its share of vivid men, particularly these: Three presidents, Wilson and the two Roosevelts; the Kaiser, Sir Winston Churchill, Lenin, Stalin, Trotsky, Hitler, Mussolini, Gandhi, Nehru.

President Johnson is at his best operating behind the scenes. There's hardly a peep out of the men who took Khrushchev's place.

Kennedy kept American eyes and expectations fixed on the White House if only because his televised news conferences were always a good show. His wit, his gestures, his facial expressions, his sharp intelligence, and there was no end of excitement, even in his first year with his big boner in backing the disastrous Cuban invasion, his trip to Europe, his summit meeting with Khrushchev, his stand on the Berlin wall.

Johnson talks a lot and even performs a bit, like pulling the beagle's ears or grabbing tourists' hands, but he is not at his best in speaking or writing. He reportedly bristles when anyone suggests he's corny.

He holds news conferences everywhere—in his office, on the White House lawn, at his ranch, and even in his bedroom—but almost all are out of public view because he deliberately avoids news sessions on television.

Johnson has stayed close to home and out of dramatic situations. His tendency has been to soft-pedal, not dramatize, unpleasant events like the riots in Panama last year the deteriorating war in Viet Nam.

In the end he may prove far superior to Kennedy in accomplishments but it seems sure now he's not in the same class with Kennedy as an actor.

Just a little over 100 days ago Khrushchev was put in limbo by his Kremlin colleagues. His place was taken by a two-man leadership: Premier Kosygin and Soviet communist party Chief Leonid Brezhnev.

They've been practically speechless ever since. The party explained one reason they moved was because Khrushchev had become too much of a one-man show. They called it a leadership cult.

Kosygin and Brezhnev compared with the bouncy, flamboyant, sometimes giddy, merry, somber, cheerful, threatening, coaxing, cheerful, threatening, coaxing, cajoling, beguiling and always forceful Khrushchev—are as undramatic as a grocer taking inventory.

De Gaulle doesn't say much but he's one man who doesn't have to. More than any modern leader he could make a grand spectacle out of silence. If he just leads a parade, with his nose in the air, he can make it look like an expedition against the gates of time.

Harold Wilson, the British prime minister, is no fiery figure, either. He acts like a technician, too. Chiang Kai-shek is still alive, but he was always a dead-pan leader.

Red China's Mao Tze-tung is the one midcentury man who might have been expected to keep thunder rolling with his pronouncements but he has stayed in the background, letting his aides do most of the talking.

World Corners

(UPI Foreign News Analyst)

When West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard journeyed to Paris to meet with President Charles de Gaulle many expected fireworks. Instead, the meeting proved so peaceful that speculation arose whether de Gaulle suddenly had gone soft.

"I can say" reported Erhard at the conclusion of the two-day meeting that "positive results were achieved in numerous very important fields . . . our opinion agreed."

Between the two there remained plenty of areas of disagreement, but on assessment of the results, it appeared that de Gaulle merely had bided his time on the theory that there was plenty of it.

The nub of their disagreement is de Gaulle's determination to eliminate United States influence on the continent and West Germany's determination to maintain its close U.S. ties, including continued dependence on the U.S. nuclear umbrella for its defense.

Related to it is the West German desire for a voice in nuclear defenses and thus its support of the U.S.-proposed mixed-manned nuclear fleet for NATO.

De Gaulle, on the other hand, would have Europe depend on his own infant nuclear arsenal but would refuse the Germans any voice in it.

Insistence by either side on maintaining a fixed position could well have proved the end of the French-German accord which already has been under considerable strain.

On his side, de Gaulle agreed to two points dear to Erhard's heart.

One was another try at German reunification, and the other renewed moves toward European political unity.

But the final opinion was that de Gaulle did not give up much of anything.

De Gaulle is said to believe that economic and cultural factors, plus gradual independence of the communist satellites from Moscow make German reunification inevitable. But he does not believe that now is the time.

However, he sees no harm in talking about it and so he agreed to a meeting of U.S., French, British and West German foreign ministers to consider an approach to the Soviets.

Similarly, while de Gaulle utterly opposes any surrender of French sovereignty to a politically united Europe, he does not mind talking about that either. He believes that in 1965, at least, talk is all that will occur.

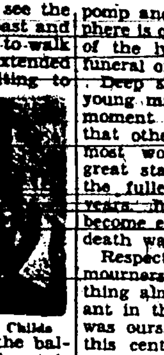
It is probable he also believes that time is on his side on the question of the mixed-manned nuclear force. A British proposal which would drastically alter the U.S. plan has so muddied the waters that it is possible neither ever will be enacted.

But for Erhard there were positive gains.

He had reiterated and re-established that Germany retained freedom of action. He had appeased former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's wing of the Christian Democratic party which had accused him of wrecking the Paris - Bonn accord.

Both would work in his favor in Germany elections next summer against the German Socialists, a victory for whom would be no less displeasing to de Gaulle than to Erhard.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON



Marquis Childs

LONDON, Jan. 30—To see the face of Britain—Britain past and present—you needed only to walk along the queue that extended for a mile or more waiting to file past the bier of Sir Winston Churchill lying in state in Westminster hall.

They were mostly middle-aged or older. They saw it through with Winnie through the dark, terrible days when the fate of Britain hung so precariously in the balance. They waited with the stoical, orderly patience characteristic of this people for that brief glimpse in the ancient hall of the coffin draped in the Union Jack with the honor guard and the six candles shedding small circles of light in the somber gloom.

The queue went through legendary London — past St. Stephen's gate into the house of commons, past the house of lords, through Victoria Tower park, along the commons side of the Thames embankment, across Lambeth bridge and past Lambeth palace where for centuries the archbishops of Canterbury have lived and then a long way down the embankment across from the commons. The sun came out and lighted the scene as though on orders from a crafty stage director. The gulls wheeled against the clay-yellow houses of parliament and everywhere against the Union Jack flies at half-staff on countless flagstaffs.

The winter cold was nippy. Some women carried thermoses of tea in shopping bags. At intervals of a block or so is a woman in a mink coat, a city man in a bowler hat. But for the most part this is middle-class Britain — solid, substantial, essentially unchanged through the years despite all the frothy surface of such phenomenon as the Beatles and the great train robbery.

These were the people who set their faces against Churchill when in the '30s he was a cassandra warning of the peril of nazism and Hitler's rising military might. Why, the man seemed to want another war. They were outraged when he suggested that perhaps Edward VIII might keep his throne even though he married an American divorcee, Mrs. Ernest Simpson.

But that is all in the forgotten past. What remains is an immense and moving gratitude; a pervading sense of the debt owed by a whole nation to one man. Despite certain similarities in the pomp and pageantry the atmosphere is quite different from that of the lying-in-state and the funeral of John F. Kennedy.

Deep shock and sorrow for a young man struck down at the moment of his promise marked that other occasion. This is almost worshipful homage to a great statesman who had lived the fullest possible life for 90 years. In his decline he had become enfeebled and a peaceful death was a merciful end.

Respectful and devoted as the mourners were, there was something almost proud and exuberant in the air—a sense that he was ours, the greatest figure of this century and a recollection of his very human qualities, his puckish humor and his Olympian anger. A woman in the line says to her companion, "He'd have a twinkle in his eye looking down at all of us waiting here in the cold."

You hear people say, "Isn't it too bad he couldn't be here because he would love it so."

He loved the traditional pageantry. He loved massed bands which explains why he chose himself those that were to play in his funeral procession. Often unabashed tears coursed down his cheeks as the bands played his favorite patriotic airs.

A remark he made at a press conference in Washington on the occasion of his last visit to America is recalled. Asked whether he feared death at the age of [illegible] he answered: "I am prepared to meet my Maker. Whether my Maker is prepared for the great ordeal of meeting me is another matter."

The great and the would-be great came from the corners of the Earth to grace an occasion more impressive than anything in memory, not excluding the funeral of the Duke of Wellington or that other ancient prime minister, William Ewart Gladstone. It was one of the most reported, photographed and televised events in this century—one Paris picture magazine had [illegible] photographers on the scene.

The crowned heads and the statesmen were received in a constant procession. They were part of the tribute to the finest hour in the history of this people and to the hero of that hour and, thereof, they were welcome.

But in a sense, for all this they added to the line of march as it slowly moved through the city Churchill loved, they are irrelevant. For this final tribute—the sorrow and the pride, the glory and the mourning—belonged to these same people in the queue that night and day for the three days of lying-in-state seemed never to end, and quietly without any nonsense they knew it was their hour.

Shoplifters rarely get up early so they'll have a longer day to steal. Department stores report most pilferage occurs between noon and 6 p.m., and comparatively little during morning or evening hours.

We're getting taller and heavier. The average young American man is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 165 pounds—the average young woman stands 5 feet 5, weighs 127.

The common cold is uncommonly complicated. Science has found at least 70 viruses that cause respiratory discomfort — and suspects there are perhaps 70 others that may be involved.

Half the people in America worry about getting an ulcer, but less than 10 per cent ever do. Having an ulcer no longer is even a status symbol. The ability to give them to others is what counts today.

LIGHT OPENINGS OFFER ADVANTAGE

It wasn't until the third round of the '65 world championship team trials that a hand was actually passed out and even here it was only passed out at one of the nine tables.

Five South players chose to open in second seat with 11 high-card points, four ten spots and a fairly good five-card heart suit.

East and West vulnerable
See article for bidding and opening lead.

All five were properly rewarded when they played either two or three hearts and always made nine tricks.

Four South players elected to pass, whereupon three of the four Wests opened with one diamond on their 11 high-card points. In all three cases, they wound up playing two or three diamonds and making their contracts.

In defending against hearts, most West players opened a spade. This led to an eventual spade ruff, but did not help the defense because South was able to discard one of dummy's diamonds on his long spades and avoid the loss of a diamond trick.

This hand clearly illustrates the advantage of light opening bids. Every time South opened his side played and made a part score. Every time South passed and West opened, his side played and made a part score.

It is also worthy of note that the South hand is worth 13 points when two points are added for the doubletons to the 11 high-card points. In addition, its two aces constitute two defensive tricks.

The West hand is not so clear cut as an opening bid. It has the same point value as the South hand, but South had major suits while West had two minor suits. South has two aces while West has only one and South has four tens and West none.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

What do you do now?

A—Bid four hearts. You have good heart support and your kings are almost surely placed in back of East's aces.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding one diamond, East bids one heart after your redouble is passed to him. What do you do now?

Americanism Discussed by Hansen PTA

HANSEN, Jan. 30—"One Nation, Under God," words spoken originally by Lincoln, were quoted by Mrs. James Penland in her talk on Americanism at the PTA meeting held Thursday night at Hansen school.

She urged that nations return to the Christian faith that was the basis of our country's beginning, as a great Republic.

She said J. Edgar Hoover warns repeatedly against our present trend in politics warning that communists campaign always to upset our country with subversion and infiltration. There is no facet of our country that has not been infiltrated, she stated. They use words, art, poetry, even history.

She warned that barbarianism on one end and boredom on the other makes people incapable of patriotism. Our spiritual values are being pushed aside by our wealth, she said.

She went on to state, "Beware—we have everything to lose—nothing to gain. We must work to renew our discovery of a tried and true America."

Mrs. Penland noted that communism has been tried in the early history as well as now, but it has always failed. A government that tries to do everything, controls all the people. A country whose people have no incentive for advancement must fall.

Mrs. Penland quoted from the book "Federalist Papers," 85 essays written by Alexander Hamilton, James Madison and John Jay.

She urged a study of the constitution, return to it, return usurped powers to the individual states, reduce taxes, cut excessive government spending to the bone, quit supporting foreign aid; as we keep spending, the communists keep taking over. She stated that aid to the needy should be freely given by the people themselves, not forced giving through a government, but through Christian love.

Cecil Stanger gave the invocation. Supt. William Barnard gave a report on the school legislation. He stated there would be little or no increase in school appropriation unless a sales tax goes into effect.

He also noted that Hansen will receive a cut of $12,400 in appropriation as all small schools in the next year.

Hal Boulton, PTA president, announced that Mrs. Clarence still needs about 100 coffee bands to complete a purchase for coffee, and asked that members try to get them to her.

Mrs. Carlos Borah, program chairman, introduced Rosemary Kevan, who played a piano solo. She also introduced Mrs. Penland.

Marvin Rose distributed pamphlets, "Let's pin down the facts about Idaho public schools."

Howard Sievers, chairman for the mother - daughter banquet held in December, reported that $90.15 had been cleared.

The seventh grade won the parents' attendance clock for this month.

Dogs Molesting Livestock Can Be Shot on Spot

Any stray dog which in any way molests livestock can be shot on sight and the owner of the dog can be held responsible for damages, Twin Falls county Sheriff James H. Benham warned Saturday.

Benham issued the warning in wake of incidents reported of dogs molesting livestock.

The owner of the livestock can shoot a dog if he notices the animal harming his livestock, Benham noted.

Every year such incidents are reported and a few have been recently reported in the west end of the county, Benham noted.

A dog owner is responsible for damages done by his dog, it was reported.

News Around Idaho

LAPWAI, Jan. 30 (AP)—Sadly counting their flood losses, residents of northcentral Idaho watched guardedly today as bulging streams finally stopped rising but stubbornly refused to recede. Hundreds of families in the Lapwai valley—from Culdesac to Sweetwater to Lapwai to Spalding—were either isolated or homeless because of the high water. Damage in the Lapwai valleys alone was estimated at two million dollars by the U.S. Indian agency, the American Red Cross and county officials.

By The Associated Press

Slides and rolling rocks, and in some instances high water, forced closure today of Idaho highways in a number of areas. State police said crews were at work, and routes were open and closed intermittently throughout the day. Only in eastern Idaho was snow directly responsible for interference in travel. Snow was falling along U.S. 26 east into Wyoming with some drifting reported. The route was closed at Alpine on the Idaho-Wyoming border. Water was flowing over U.S. 30N between Bancroft and Soda Springs east of Pocatello. However state police said traffic was going through.

POCATELLO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Action against Richard Henry Burt, 18, charging implication with John Dee Larsen in the Vicki Jo Quinn murder case, has been delayed until Larsen's appeal is heard. Larsen was convicted Dec. 15 of the knife slaying. The Idaho supreme court is to convene here in March to hear his appeal. Burt was charged with being an accessory after the fact. He testified during Larsen's trial that he helped bury the girl's body on the Fort Hall Indian reservation.

BOISE, Jan. 30 (AP)—The state supreme court has ruled "King's" variety store in the Franklin Shopping center here must alter its name to avoid confusion with "King's" shoe store. The court said the shoe store has used the name since 1946 and was entitled to have it protected.

BOISE, Jan. 30 (AP)—Sen. Richard Egbert, D., Teton, says he is investigating procedure necessary to annex a part of Wyoming to Idaho. Egbert said he asked the attorney general's office for advice on the procedure in behalf of some 150 persons in the Teton basin who expressed a desire to be annexed to Idaho. They live in an area about 10 miles wide and 16 miles long that would include an elaborate ski resort under construction west of Jackson, Wyo., Egbert said.

Local Women Honored at T.F. Jay-C-Ettes Anniversary Party

BY NORMA HERZINGER
Women's Page Editor

Many local women were honored at the 21st birthday anniversary dinner party of the Twin Falls Jay-C-Ettes.

Special tribute was paid to these women for valuable service to the Jay-C-Ettes and included past presidents, key women, charter members and women helping in the first years of the organization in Twin Falls.

A large cake, depicting the organization's 21st anniversary, was centered on the head table. Other tables were decorated with rose nut cups and rose trees.

The program for this special occasion was presented by Terri Thornock, Miss Physical Fitness. Miss Thornock told of her trip to the World's Fair and demonstrated exercises that won her this title.

Mrs. Dan Lancaster welcomed and spoke to the honored guests and introduced them individually. Mrs. Charles Sieber, first Twin Falls Jay-C-Ette president, introduced the charter members, her first officers and early members. She told of their busy activities during the war years when the group was chartered.

She told of the first meeting held at the Rogerson hotel Jan. 16, 1944, with 19 members. At the end of that first year, the group showed a membership of 56. Included among the activities that first year was the March of Dimes drive and working for Greek relief, in which clothing was sorted by Jay-C-Ettes, and 4,500 pounds of it were sent to Greece. They helped on the sugar rationing board during canning time and made bandages for the Red Cross.

Mrs. Sieber was made state president of the Jay-C-Ettes that year and her husband, Charles, was state Jaycee president.

The group received a citation from the war department that first year for selling a large amount of E bonds.

This past year, the group earned $1,642.41 with various fund raising projects. Being welfare-conscious, this money has been given to many charities, including Easter Seal clinic, Special education department of the Twin Falls school district, YM-

Buhl Couple Recites Vows in Lutheran Rites

BUHL, Jan. 30—Nuptial vows recited Jan. 15 in St. John's Lutheran church united in marriage Marlyce Schmeckpeper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlyn Schmeckpeper, and Raymond Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Owen, all Buhl.

The Rev. J. H. Frese, Jerome, solemnized the double ring candlelight rites. Tiered candelabra with white tapers and beauty baskets of red carnations and white chrysanthemums tied with ornate red satin bows and streamers formed the background setting for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, recited vows in a floor-length gown fashioned of lace and tulle. A modified scooped-neckline highlighted with sequin trim and petit point sleeves were features of the fitted bodice. The skirt was accented with tiers of lace in the back, edged with tulle, that cascaded into a brush train.

A queen's crown embellished with imported hand cut crystal released her short bouffant veil of illusion. A tear drop pearl pendant, a gift from the bridegroom, served as her only jewelry. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses against an array of white satin ribbon bows and streamers.

Mrs. Merlyn Schmeckpeper, Twin Falls, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Sharon Hepperle was bridesmaid. They wore identical street-length gowns of red taffeta brocade designed with modified scooped necklines, short party sleeves and bell-shaped skirts. Each carried a white simulated prayer book topped with white carnations trimmed with flowing red and white satin streamers.

Marcia Owen, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was gowned in the same fashion as the other attendants and carried a white net basket with white flower petals adorned with red and white satin cascading streamers.

Gary Schmeckpeper, brother of the bride, was ringbearer. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow edged with lace and red and white satin streamers.

Ronald Owen, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Merlyn Schmeckpeper, Twin Falls, and Delwyn Schmeckpeper, Boise, brothers of the bride, Richard Kaes and Tommy Fischer.

Cheryl Schmeckpeper, sister of the bride, and Janet Owen, sister of the bridegroom, served as taper lighters. They wore beige taffeta brocade street-length frocks fashioned like that of the bridal attendants. Each wore a wristlet corsage of red carnations.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. A. O. Graesch, organist. She accompanied Mrs. R. A. Adolph, Hagerman, soloist.

The bride's mother chose a blue taffeta brocade sheath dinner dress with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a pink knit suit ensemble with pink accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Following the wedding ceremony, the newlyweds greeted guests at a reception in the church parlors. The bride's table featured an ecru lace tablecloth centered with a four-tiered red and white wedding cake surrounded at the base with a ruffle of red tulle. The cake was topped with a cluster of three large lacey wedding bells adorned with red rosebud centers and highlighted with white satin ribbon bows, tulle and lilies of the valley. Double crystal holders with white tapers entwined with red carnations flanked the cake.

(Hamilton photo)

Mrs. M. J. Schmeckpeper, aunt of the bride, cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Emile Haumont presided at the silver coffee service and Mrs. Alfred Daiss poured punch. Charlotte Scroeder and Charlotte Malone were in charge of the gift table. Mrs. Delwyn Schmeckpeper registered guests. Mrs. Donald Schroeder was reception chairman. Women of the Missionary league were kitchen assistants.

For her wedding trip, the new Mrs. Owen changed to a blue wool sheath dress with winter white accessories, accented with a red rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside southwest of Buhl.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of the Buhl high school and is employed with Maughan's Drive-In.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Buhl high school with the class of 1959. He completed three years service with the army and is employed with the Buhl Cooperative Supply association.

Pre-nuptial events honoring the bride include a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Sharon Hepperle, co-hosted by Sally Baughman; a shower at the home of Mrs. Alfred Daiss, with Mrs. Merlyn Schmeckpeper, and Mrs. Emile Haumont as co-hostesses, and a shower at the home of Mrs. Walter Kaes, with Mrs. Andy Fisher, Mrs. Helen Birkby and Mrs. Martin Martinson as co-hostesses. Miss Robertson, Sellars Repeat Nuptial Vows

Martha Jean Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Robertson, Twin Falls, was married to William Carroll Sellars, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Sellars, Boise, Jan. 23 at St. Edward's Catholic church.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edmund Cody performed the rites before a setting of large baskets of white gladioli, white chrysanthemums and white pom pons, flanked by white tapers in spiral candelabra. The main altar and the side altars were decorated with bouquets of white gladioli, white chrysanthemums and pom pons. The aisles were marked with floral designs of white pearlized pom pons, huckelberry and ivory satin bows.

The bride wore a floor-length ivory silk brocade gown fashioned with a portrait neckline, fitted bodice and a straight paneled front enhanced with a bow at the waistline. The gown was accented with a full chapel train. An ivory chanel bow enhanced with seed pearls released her shoulder-length veil of bride's illusion.

She carried a hogarth curved bouquet of white butterfly roses, pearlized stephanotis and eucalyptus with accents of tear drop pearls.

Mrs. Dennis Lowe, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Nixon Sellars, Boise; Hrs. Donald Creswell, Challis, and Mrs. Robert Alexander, Twin Falls.

They wore robin-egg blue chiffon gowns styled with empire waistlines, sweetheart necklines and softly pleated skirts. Each carried a cascade bouquet of rarina roses, backed with blue French illusion net and blue bows with accents of gold metallic leaves.

Best man was Nixon Sellars, brother of the bridegroom, Boise. Ushers were Michael Sellars, Boise; Donald Creswell, Challis; Ronald Daly, Boise, and Ron Carpenter, Boise, and C. E. (Bud) Wadsworth, Jr., Twin Falls.

The bride's mother wore a blue silk and wool suit enhanced with a flowered hat and a corsage of orchids. The bridegroom's mother chose a white and blue brocade suit accented with an orchid corsage. The ensembles of the grandmothers were enhanced with red rose corsages.

The reception was held at the Blue Lakes Country club. The main foyer entrance was decorated with brass candelabra and fan-shaped bouquets of yellow gladioli, yellow chrysanthemums and bronze-colored pom pons. On the opposite side of the stone wall at the Country club formed the receiving line with three background floral arrangements arranged in the stone wall, consisting of bronze-colored pom pons, yellow gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride's table was covered with a white crepe cloth with flounces of English organdy. Floral decorations on silver candleholders holding white tapers flanked the elaborately decorated tiered wedding cake which was encircled with smilax. Garlands of smilax roping encircled the organdy cloth. The punch table, coffee table and the buffet table were decorated identically to the bride's table.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Marguerite Conant, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Robert Campbell, Boise. Punch and coffee were served by Mrs. C. E. Wadsworth, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Charles Brown, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Michael Sellars, Boise, was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were displayed by cousins of the bridegroom, Patty Jo Jones, Jeanie Jones and Ann Marie Jones.

For traveling, the bride changed to a white pleated skirt with navy jacket suit accented with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will reside in Twin Falls where Sellars is manager of Carrolls, Inc., Twin Falls. The bride is employed at the Times-News Publishing company.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Rogerson hotel Desert room. Showers given in honor of the bride include a champagne shower hosted by Mrs. Levander and Mrs. Warner; miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Robert Alexander and Mrs. Charles Allen, and a bridal luncheon hosted by the bride's Godmother, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Boise.

Youths, Dads 'Camp Out' In Building

Twin Falls Y-Indian Guides, members of a national YMCA program dedicated to fostering companionship between father and son, "camped out" Friday night in the local YM-YWCA building.

Boys and their fathers, numbering about 36, spent the night in the large meeting room at the building, in sleeping bags.

The group included members of two tribes from Twin Falls, Conner said that each tribe numbers about eight or nine boys and their fathers. The tribes meet twice each month in members' homes to tell Indian stories, do Indian craft projects and study Indian ritual. Boys in the group are all 6-8 years old.

Conner reported that the Y-Indian Guides have various projects and outings throughout the year, similar to the one held Friday night.

Activities planned for this summer include a junior Olympic meet, a kite fly, and a father-son picnic, swim and campout.

Dow-Jones Reaches 900 Average Mark

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (UPI) — Wall Streeters waved a fond farewell to the 900 barrier in the Dow-Jones industrial average this week and looked forward to a continued upward climb with renewed optimism.

However, the 900 level was not easily reached. The market began flirting with the mark as long ago as Nov. 18 when the average rose to 891.71 and it was only this week that the flirtation became a serious courtship.

The Dow-Jones industrial average, the oldest market indicator in existance, represents the average of 30 of the nation's leading industrial companies. The total value of these shares is added up and then divided by a divisor.

The average rose to 896.46 on Monday and continued upward until it was able to spend most of Wednesday above the 900 level. Only a last minute trickle of selling pulled it back below the mark. A new assault was tried on Thursday and this time the average crossed the barrier with an 0.95 margin. This margin was increased by 1.91 in the final session.

Although the advance was backed by a host of favorable earnings' reports, dividend actions and an optimistic economic message from President Johnson, the advance was almost painfully cautious. Particularly noted was the trend toward preclose profit-taking which was mainly responsible for the length of time it took for the 900 barrier to be broken.

Over the near-term, the analysts expect the market to move forward to around the 925-930 point on the D-J scale. But, the majority caution, the move toward this area will be slow and caution even greater.

Dow-Jones industrial average rose 0.27 on the week to finish at a new peak of 902.86. Rails gained 0.69 at 212.78. Utilities rose 0.77 to 160.68, also a new peak.

Volume rose to 30,816,190 shares a week before, and compared with 22,642,833 shares in the same week last year.

Of the 1,536 issues traded, 883 advanced, 280 to new 1964-65 highs while 470 declined, 24 to new lows.

Brunswick was the most active issue of the week, rising 1 to 9¾ on 434,400 shares. Brokers said strength in the long depressed stock stemmed from optimism over the company's improving financial situation.

Curtis Publishing got a lift from President Johnson's plans for federal spending on education. It rose 3⅛ to 11⅞ on 408,400 shares. Schenley was third in the list with a gain of 4¼ at 29⅞ on 378,600 shares following a tender offer to acquire the shares at $32 each.

Texas Gulf Sulphur advanced 3¼ to 63 on 364,600 shares in fourth spot. On Friday the company reported it had completed expansion of its Whitcourt, Alberta, Canada Sulphur recovery plant.

Westinghouse Electric spurted to its best level since 1961 with a gain of 4¼ at 46⅝ on 364,600 shares following its favorable earnings statement.

Steels continued in the Doldrums and even favorable earnings reports did not prevent Bethlehem and U. S. Steel from finishing with fractional losses. Inland, which reported good earnings also, slipped 1½. Lukens finished unchanged despite a dividend hike.

Most Grains On Market Close Strong

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (UPI) — Soybeans and corn closed out the week firm to strong while wheat and rye were strong, and oats easy to weak.

Soybeans were up ⅞ to 7; wheat was up 2½ to 4¼; corn up ½ to 1¼; oats off ⅛ to ⅜ and rye up 1 to 1½.

Soybeans and wheat were two grains influenced by talk of increased export trade. Soybeans went up Friday on reports Spain was about to block exports of olive oil because of crop failure.

Soybeans opened the week weak to heavy and closed the same. Tuesday's trading was unchanged to up 3 while Wednesday was strong, with as much as 7½ points gained. Thursday was mixed, up ⅛ to off 2.

Wheat started weak but stayed higher all week, strong Tuesday and Wednesday, firm Thursday and steady to firm Friday.

Corn was up until Friday when the market closed weak to heavy.

Oats started mixed, went to steady Wednesday and Thursday and closed easy Friday.

Rye also opened mixed, but was strong Tuesday, steady to firm Wednesday and Thursday and weak to heavy Friday.

Excellent Earning Reports Show Strength of Economy

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP) — The strength of the economy was reflected during the week in a stream of excellent earnings reports.

Profits of many companies in 1964 were at record levels or the best in several years.

This was particularly true in the steel, oil, railroad and automobile industries.

In his annual economic message to congress, President Johnson painted a glowing picture of business prospects under his administration and presented statistics showing that 1964 was a good year.

United States Steel corporation, the top producer, reported 1964 earnings of 236.3 million dollars, or $3.90 a share, a gain of 16 per cent over 1963 and the highest since 1960. Bethlehem corporation, ranked No. 2, earned $147,944,000, or $3.11 a share, last year, up 44 per cent from 1963 and a seven-year high.

Percentage gains by other steel companies included Copperweld 75, Inland 27, Armco 32, Lukens 118, National 33, Pittsburgh 80, Republic 30 and Youngstown 38.

The mills have been operating at near capacity for weeks to meet the high demand for the metal, particularly by the automobile and appliance industries. Many users are boosting their orders to build stockpiles as a hedge against a possible steel strike May 1.

The hedge buying posed a problem for the steel industry. If there is no strike, users will be well stocked and the demand for steel will drop later in the year.

General Motors earned $1,735,000,000 in 1964, the highest profits of any company in history.

Three major oil companies — Standard of New Jersey, Standard of California and Shell — reported record earnings for 1964.

Railroad industry results for 1964 indicated the carriers had their best year in both revenue and earnings in nearly a decade.

Gross revenues last year approximated 9.9 billion dollars, up 3.6 per cent from 9.5 billion dollars in 1963. Profits were estimated at 725 million dollars, an increase of 11 per cent over the 652 million dollars in 1963 and the highest since 1957.

President Johnson, in his economic message, forecast a 660-billion-dollar gross national product — total of all goods and services — this year. If that occurs, 1965 will be the fifth straight year of upturn.

Johnson told congress that depressions can be abolished. He asked for quicker tax-cut procedures to combat slumps and promised to seek more tax reduction in 1965 if an unexpected lag develops.

He reported these 1964 developments:

—The jobless rate dropped to 5.2 per cent from 5.7 per cent in 1963. New jobs created last year totaled 1.5 million.

—The gross national product climbed to 622 billion dollars from 584 billion in 1963.

—In the past four years the balance-of-payments position improved, the outflow of gold was reduced and commercial exports increased more than 25 per cent.

The President submitted a record budget of 99.7 billion dollars. Government receipts were estimated at 94.4 billion dollars, indicating a deficit of 5.3 billion dollars for the 1966 fiscal year.

Steel production during the week continued to hold its strong pace 25 per cent ahead of last year. Output totaled 2,680,000 tons, up about one-half of one per cent from the preceding week.

Automobile production slowed a bit during the week with output estimated at 197,100, down five per cent from 207,417 last week but up 22 per cent from 161,457 a year ago.

Ford continued six-day production at 14 of its 16 assembly plants. General Motors scheduled Saturday work at seven of its plants.

In the middle 10 days of January, 254,195 U.S.-made cars were sold for an average of 28,244 in each of the period's nine selling days. This was up 39 per cent from the daily pace a year earlier.

The stock market continued to advance and the Dow Jones industrial average topped 900 for the first time.

The government reported that the cost of living inched up one-tenth of one per cent in December. For all 1964 the gain was 1.1 per cent. The labor department called it a year of moderate advance.

The dock strike lingered on as union members in Baltimore turned down a contract that had been accepted elsewhere. The longshoremen won't go back to work until there has been unanimous acceptance in ports from Maine to Texas.

The New York Shipping association, representing 145 steamship and stevedoring firms from Searsport, Maine, to Norfolk, Va., asked President Johnson to take immediate steps to end the strike in New York.

T.F. School Inspected by Accreditors

A team of examiners representing the Accrediting Commission for Business Schools, Washington, D.C., arrived in Twin Falls this week.

The Twin Falls Business college, which was accredited as a two-year school of business in 1960, was re-examined for continued accreditation by the ACBS, which is recognized by the U.S. office of education as the official accrediting agency for business schools in the United States.

Dr. Blaine L. Winters, Utah state department of education, and Roy Stevens, Stevens-Henager junior college of business, were the examiners.

Physical plant of the local college, its curricula, adequacy of library, professional preparation of the faculty, and relationship of the college to the business community were subjects of investigation by the team.

Annual accreditations of business college is granted by the ACBS on the basis of locally prepared reports, but a physical examination by a visitation team is mandatory every five years or oftener at the direction of the commission headquarters.

Twin Falls Business college has been in continuous service to the high school graduates of Magic Valley since its founding by Sterling C. Larson in 1948. Its growth culminated in its accreditation by the national commission in 1960. The college is one of only five such accredited institutions in the Intermountain area. A faculty and staff often serve an enrollment of 150 students in the regular college and adult evening education.

City Heads To Consider Lease Here

Twin Falls commissioners will consider a lease by Dr. Charles I. Manners for veterinarian service for one year during the commissioners meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday in City Hall.

The commissioners will consider an application by Artell Aslett and Mel Aslet for a permit to construct a 32-by-80-foot hanger at the Twin Falls airport.

In addition they will consider an application by Lloyd Cox for a permit to operate a car rental business at the airport.

Reports will be given on city personnel injured while on duty for a six month period ending Dec. 31.

The seven-man commissioner board will set a date for a public hearing on an application by Roscoe Wagner for zoning variance to permit construction of a 42-by-122 addition to an existing shop at 410 Locust street north.

The group will consider renewal of a five year lease with Oregon Short Line railroad company for roadway site which provides a westerly extension of Commercial avenue for approximately 423 feet.

They will approve building permits, license applications and monthly departmental reports in addition to payroll and monthly bills for January.

Additional items for the city manager, city clerk or city attorney will be discussed.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (UPI) — Bache and company says that with General Motors moving to the forefront and once again assuming market leadership the 900 level in the Dow-Jones average will be breached by a substantial margin.

Bache suggests purchases of stocks where the likelihood of further earnings gains is apparent and where prices in relation to earnings are reasonable.

The January Publishing and Research corporation says it feels the long-term market outlook is "bullish." But on a short-term basis, the research organization writes, the market is not yet ready to take off into a broad new advance. "We regard it as likely to continue tricky and erratic for trading purposes."

Clark, Dodge and company expresses the opinion that cigarette stocks have appeal for eventual appreciation. "Fears arising from the current health scare are largely discounted and should lessen in time," the brokerage firm says. "Meanwhile," it says, "excellent yields and defensive characteristics are provided."

Thompson and McKinnon notes that marekt leadership has remained in the lower priced specialty issues. Speculators, it says, are busy looking for quick turnovers and finding the going relatively easy."

Young Mother Stresses Need For Checking up on 'Cures'

Editor, Times-News:

I am writing in response to a letter published in last week's paper from a young mother in Gooding. She wrote, quote, "This stuff on televison like birth defects—'Help support your March of Dimes' makes me sick." Because she read in a book called "Prevention" that said, quote, "Birth control pills can make you fat, nervous and can cause your baby to be mongoloid."

Well, I am a young mother, too, and have a normal 9-year-old son. Then four years ago I had another precious little boy—a mongoloid. And my doctor assured me there is no proven cause for the birth of a mongoloid. I have never taken any birth control pills or any preventatives. Birth defects can strike anyone, because your first son isn't affected that is no assurance it can never happen.

I also have read "Prevention," only Mrs. Tadlock, I took the bother to find out how much truth there was to it. About two years ago there was an article—"Dr. Turkel's treatment of mongolian." It was supposedly to improve mongoloid features and increase their I.Q. So I took it to my doctor, he read it and then sent for the literature. When I received it we discussed it and he sent me to a child specialist with it. He read it, then wrote to the American Medical association about it. The AMA had never heard of any such proven treatment.

Thank heavens, Mrs. Tadlock, that we have the March of Dimes. Through it polio has been conquered and now they are supporting birth defects.

For birth control pills—let's leave their effects and diagnosis to our capable medical doctors and the American Medical association.

Critic of Birth Defects Film Called Foolish

Editor, Times-News:

Sharon Tadlock, mother? Your letter makes me sick. Good people of Idaho, don't listen to this foolish girl, support your March of Dimes!

My wife and I have a 9-year-old boy who was born with a defective hip (congenital hip). My wife took no pills or shots. We had no help from any organization, although we could have had, so I am not writing through a feeling of gratitude or obligation for favors received.

I do know the mental and physical suffering my boy has gone through.

Birth defects can and will, with God's help and the March of Dimes help, be prevented.

So shame on you, foolish girl, and I say again good people of Idaho, support this drive to prevent children from pain and suffering.

Oh yes, Sharon Tadlock, we have two girls—no defects, perfectly healthy.

GETS HIGH MARK

HAILEY, Jan. 30 — Robert Allred, son of Mrs. Rhea Allred, Gannett, who is doing graduate work for his masters of arts degree at Utah State university, completed the first quarter of his work with a 4.0 grade average.

Birth Defects Around Long Before Pills, Writer Avers

Editor, Times-News:

Sharon Tadlock, Gooding,

In regard to your anger against charity drives and the use of "every two minutes a defective child is born," I would like to know how you think polio was conquered if it wasn't for the money collected from the March of Dimes. Did those children crippled with polio make you sick, too? Thank God that He has given men the knowledge to conquer these diseases.

You say you are the mother of a healthy baby. Be glad, Mrs. Tadlock, that yours is healthy. Many children are not that lucky.

As for your scorn against birth control pills, after reading one magazine, "Prevention," you believe that they are bad, a source of cancer, and will deform babies. Do you actually think that medical doctors would distribute those pills if they had harmful side effects? They had been tested on thousands of women in other countries for years before they could be released to American women.

I know of no women who, after taking these pills, gave birth to a deformed child. Cancer and deformed babies have always been present—as far back as history can go—but birth control pills have only been out on the market for a few years.

I am a young mother of 20 with two children. My children are both healthy and that is all the more reason that I feel sorry and want to help the innocent, deformed children.

If birth defects make you sick and you feel that you do not want to help, I hope that you never give birth to a deformed child and have people turn away from you saying, "It makes me sick."

Another Voice Added to Furor Over Programs

Editor, Times-News:

For you people who don't like the Munsters, Addams, Bewitched and the like, really now, aren't they better than the Ben Casey's, Perry Masons and the Nurses? I have been turning my set off on the latters for a long time now. I say give us anything, yes anything, even the Lucy show over them.

By the way, don't you get tired of seing the same scenes in Wagon Train?

TIMES-NEWS PUBLIC FORUM—VOICE OF THE READER

Jaycees Score Advertisement Concerning Unitarian Belief

Editor, Times-News:

The Jaycees are the world's largest organization of young men. Our first and most important creed is: "We believe that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life." When a newspaper places an ad in their paper, they are indirectly promoting the product.

January 13 your paper carried an ad concerning the theological belief of Unitarianism and Universalism.

The Jaycees most definitely believe in the freedom of religion, but when our local newspaper supports this type of advertising then someone must stand up and tell them this is wrong.

The average person who read your ad probably thought this approach to life was all right. But if you carefully analyze the wording used, then you find four very unbelievable facts which are a propaganda threat to our existing way of life.

The ad when carefully read might tell us this

1. If a man has done wrong, that is alright, he is always capable of doing better, therefore his punishment need not be so severe.

2. It is more important to improve yourself materialistically than to prove yourself spiritually.

3. That the Russian who believes in communism is just as right as we who believe in democracy.

4. Last and worst that we do not need God.

We as Jaycees believe that a newspaper of your quality should refrain from such advertising in this, our wonderful community.

Man Supports Church Stand Against Liquor, Gambling

Editor, Times-News:

Reading Mr. Crandall's letter in the forum, in his way of thinking the church people are the biggest opposition to gambling and liquor. Well, I am glad he said that as that is a nice compliment for the church.

I have no doubt in my mind but Mr. Crandall is a fine man. He has his rights to his own opinions, but I want to say that the church people must take their stand against alcoholic liquor and gambling. That is why the church is here, to take a firm stand against wrong and take their stand for what is right.

Alcohol kills and works hand in hand with gambling in taking food and a warm bed away from babies.

Anyone in business, whatever it is, will look after it. So the church takes care of the business that rightly is up to them to do. So the church must take a real stand against liquor and the church that does not—God help that church.

People of all ages, innocent, driving on the highways, are crippled, some for the rest of their lives. Many innocent ones are in the cemetery by meeting some drinking driver who could not think straight or drive straight.

I wish there was some way Mr. Crandall and I could walk through the cemetery and he could count the graves of older and teen-agers and count the graves of innocent babies that lay there because of some drinking driver. Now all highway deaths are not caused by strong drink.

Think of the ones that are. Then the children and babies undernourished because of liquor and gambling. Some babies and older children go to bed hungry, caused by these evils. So alcohol is proved to be no good—the same for gambling.

So the church is their biggest opposition—thanks for that.

Johnson's Obsession Is to Be Dictator, Writer Avers

Editor, Times-News:

The "Great Society" is to become the "Godless Stupidity."

This is not to say that LBJ is not capable of fulfilling his intentions, but rather that his obsession will drive him to lengths that will prove his stupidity.

As soon as he took office he informed the public of one thing that would buy him votes—supporting more millions of welfare people through the humane assumption that he was banishing poverty.

Even before any poverty scheme could be produced, the very promise that it would be brought him the majority of votes to elect him.

His obsession of course is to become dictator. Roosevelt tried for the same thing and JFK worked hard for it through his squandering projects to please the voters for their votes.

But LBJ—a master of cunning—bought his votes outright through his promise of doles through the welfare (poverty gimmick). He couldn't lose.

But the stupidity of it is that welfarism is the cancer in our society. Once started it works for itself and it apparently can't be eradicated. Note New York paying out one-half billion a year on welfarism.

As it grows it eats a country up. Through taxes it drains the life out of our industry, which is our life. Argentina is an illuminating example of this. Juan Peron gave his welfarers more doles as they demanded them until now the country is a bankrupt shell. A wonderful meat producer is now reduced to meatless days.

And the whole nation reeking of welfarism is surely Godless. A deadly cancer in any nation's economy.

Man Sickened by 'Garbage' Grocers Offer in Spud Bins

Editor, Times-News:

I read your editorial "Join the Club" in Wednesday's Jan. 26 edition of the Times-News concerning cull potatoes and/or the deplorable marketing methods of local consumption of Idaho potatoes. Inasmuch as we have no customers within the state of Idaho at retail level I can in all good conscience lay this rotten egg on the retailers' doorstep.

First let me briefly explain the marketing practices generally used in the state of Idaho. Up to this time there have been no regulations governing the grade or quality of potatoes sold at retail even though the term "U.S. 1" grade has frequently accompanied the potato to the retail shelf. The housewife at this point then has become conditioned to the situation of having junk offered to her at retail through the years. She complains, mostly to herself because she has found that she receives some very pat answers concerning quality from her grocer or produce manager at her local market.

The retailer is by his very nature price conscious on his buys and cannot stand to see his competition buy an item cheaper than he paid. With potatoes sold within this state it sickens me to see the housewife have pawned off to her at four and five times the purchase price plain garbage suitable only for cattle feed. She isn't gullible, she's not brainwashed, she has been conditioned to this situation. Through the years she has come to accept this problem.

Our shippers' organization attempted to push through a state law during the last legislature that would require only U.S. grades to be sold at retail within this state. This same bill is before this legislature. Also we now have in the hopper in Washington a bill that would require the "state of origin" to accompany potatoes offered at retail that had entered interstate commerce hoping to curb the violations against the use of our name Idaho in selling russet burbank potatoes grown in other states. I do hope that both bills pass because I would think our nation's homes are entitled to receive what they think they are buying, and we do have available a high quality potato which can be purchased by every local store in Idaho.

Housewives, arise! Tell your grocer to get you good potatoes because you now know they are available and will be until May.

Man Appalled by Move to Repeal Death Penalty

Editor, Times-News:

This muddled thinking about the death penalty is appalling. When you "do-gooders" get through breaking down all of the bulwarks of the law and complete the tying of the hands of judges, juries and the police who are waging a losing battle to protect your "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," then you can live in the jungle you are working to create where murder, rape and kidnaping are a way of life. And if you don't think we are headed in that direction check the FBI statistics on the increase of crime.

The modern breakdown of moral code and the wanton disregard for the rights and safety of peace-loving people by thugs, thieves and cold-blooded murderers should be checked, not supported.

What forces of evil are rampant in our modern world that can so successfully warp Christian minds that they no longer have compassion for innocent victims and their bereaved families, but cry crocodile tears over those who ruthlessly inflict torture and death upon their fellowmen? These are the same twisted minds that are always in sympathy with the criminal and look upon our peace officers as bullies and sadists.

Hats off to our Idaho courts for defending a law, which, instead of being eliminated should be strengthened by eliminating the "insanity" clause so that rampaging maniacs can be eliminated from our society along with deliberate killers.

Uncle Critical Of Way Nephew's Name Sounded

Editor, Times-News:

This letter is to protest against the way some radio and TV newscasters pronounce the name of Joslin field.

The city of Twin Falls named the field in honor of my nephew who was shot down in the South Pacific in his B17 bomber by a Japanese cruiser, so I think it is the duty of those who find it necessary to mention the field to pronounce the name the way he did.

I see no more reason to pronounce Joslin with a hard "S" than Johnson or Nelson or Larson—Johnzon, Nelzon, Larzon.

Several years ago I wrote to one KLIX newscaster telling him the way be pronounce the name and he agreed to do so, but just a few days ago I heard him go back to the same old jazz.

Joslin may not be a pretty name but I hate to have it made a horrid name.

How about it, you Twin Falls telephone subscribers, why not get on the line every time you hear that name butchered and help get that young hero all the honor due him.

We pronounce the name with soft S, as in Nelson.

Better Programs Needed On TV, Area Woman Asserts

Editor, Times-News:

I quite agree with Alta Sikes of Filer about the type of TV programs we have day after day.

It seems such a pity, though, we have another class of programs which has a demoralizing effect on the actors themselves as well as cheating their sponsors. To mention a few, I will say Jackie Gleason, Red Skelton and, I might add, Jack Benny. These have been, in the past, favorites many.

Jackie Gleason was a writer, composer and conductor of a prominent orchestra and band. I think a little silliness wouldn't do so much harm, but in each and every program he puts on now, he portrays a drunkard and someone more silly than could ever be allowed on our streets of Twin Falls.

I could laugh at Red Skelton with some of his fun for the half-hour, but most of it now is not fun nor human silliness. An hour of that is too much to take without some clean fun and drama.

Jack Benny is using more of the action of the others. Last Sunday (Jan. 17) was as near human as he had and it was funny.

What I'm trying to say, I believe from talk with others, that these three men could give us such good clean programs of fun music and drama. Young people do like things that are talented and educational.

Just during our holidays some young people remarked they wanted to go driving. There was nothing decent on at the movies nor on TV for them to see.

Good programs of clean entertainment or music could and perhaps would keep many of our young people off the streets and from places where they shouldn't be seen.

We have had good programs—why not again? I believe our local stations would give us more of what we want if we expressed our desires.

Writer Doubts Area Mother Knows Cause of Defects

Editor, Times-News:

In answer to Sharon Tadlock, Gooding, I'd like to congratulate her on being able to find out why babies are born with birth defects. This is a question my doctor couldn't answer for me, nor baby specialists including neurologists and neurosurgeons.

Yes, my baby girl was born with a birth defect. My first question, "Why?" No, I don't and never have taken shots or birth control pills. I never had any trouble during my pregnancy and I'm a healthy, 25-year-old mother of three. I have a boy and another girl in presumably good health.

Thanks to the March of Dimes and their charity drives my baby will have her chance. They have paid for one vital operation and in February she'll have another. I firmly believe that in time the March of Dimes will conquer birth defects just as they did polio. Doesn't it give you peace of mind to know that your baby will not have such a crippling disease as polio? Thanks to the March of Dimes.

No, Mrs. Tadlock, I don't like being one of these mothers, but with the help and strength of God and the March of Dimes we'll make it fine. Until this strikes your home or someone close to you, believe me, you don't know what you're talking about.

T.F. Woman Cites Advantage Of Educational TV Program

Editor, Times-News:

Since coming to Idaho I no longer watch TV unless there is a particularly renowned person interviewed, as is occasionally the case.

However, we must not lose sight of the fact that TV in many areas of the U.S. is being used to the greatest advantage.

For example, there is a college professor of physics with a program in California currently written up in Reader's Digest who states, "In my 30 years of teaching, I've had some 6,000 college students, but on one TV show I may reach 25 million people at one time. By ordinary teaching methods this would take 125,000 years. If I can encourage just one Isaac Newton, Albert Einstein or Marie Curie it will be worth all of TV's tinsel."

Programs of this caliber are awakening our children at the earliest ages to a sense of wonder and excitement in the world around them.

I read about and have seen these things from New York to Idaho—but here all I see and hear are the voices of despair and fear. One should change the name of this Public Forum to "Voice of Doom."

Idaho's child deserves better than this.

Wage Earner Thinks Editor Talks in Circles on Taxation

Editor, Times-News:

You seem to be talking in circles in your editorials a week or so ago entitled "Tax Spotlight," "Plan for Farmers," and "Phony Claim." In the article entitled "Plan for Farmers" you claim that a Boise writer, in checking with the internal revenue service, learned the farmers income tax return is "far less than the average" and "many farmers do not pay a penny of state income tax." Assuming this is true, and you seem to think so or you would not have printed it in your editorial, you must accept then than the farmer is in reality one of Idaho's low income residents. You quote Governor Smylie as stating "I recommend that the impact of the income tax be dramatically reduced on the lower levels of income." You agree with him on this point, then you state in your article "Phony Claim," "certainly a sales tax will be more of a burden to those low income persons who spend most of their money for the necessities of life."

Then caustically, you quote Sen. Don Samuelson, R., Bonner, as stating that "a sales tax would increase the burden on taxpayers to the point where many business and farm people would have to go out of business."

Exactly how much of a burden and how repressive the sales tax would be is self evident from your own statements, Governor Smylie's, and the Boise writer's statements.

Just where do you stand, Mr. Editor? You state you favor a sales tax to encourage industry to come into the state. Look in your own back yard! Why impose an unjust tax to stifle the basic industries already here? Yes, I agree with you that the sales tax is only a nuisance tax to a portion of our society, but it is not only a nuisance to farmers, it is in reality—a burden. You strongly favor a sales tax—why? Could it be that this would be "nothing more or less than a proposal to increase state revenue with the least possible impact on the newspaper industry."

No. I am not a farmer nor a member of the Farm Bureau. I am a wage earner. Yes—I favor the income tax proposal.

Birch Society Gets Boost From Former Opponent

Editor, Times-News:

Some time ago I had views similar to those of Mr. O. R. Asson concerning this secret extremist hate group known as the John Birch Society. Fortunately, I had the opportunity to find out just how terrible these people are.

First of all, their meetings are not secret; the doors are open to anyone. Inside you will find local businessmen, working men and housewives. Each meeting is begun with a prayer and the pledge to the flag. The meetings I have attended have been highlighted by guest speakers or a film, the purpose of which is to inform the public of the rising menace of communism in this country. Following the program every one has a chance to ask questions, disagree and ask for documentation of any statement made. At the close of this "hate group" meeting another prayer is offered and the invitation to attend another meeting is extended.

I have attended several meetings to become better informed. I have decided I prefer to be associated with people who are "extremists" against communism, no matter whose toes are stepped on while they are informing the American public.

Our national and international situations are grave. Unless the American public is awakened in time to the realities of this creeping communism, we are going to find out one day exactly what hundreds of thousands of Poles, Czechs, Hungarians and Chinese found out all too late—that once the Iron curtain encircles it is never again opened. It doesn't have to be built by "foreign agents," but it is easily built by socialistic, liberal politicians relying on the apathy of a country's "good citizens" not wanting to get involved.

Investigate first, then draw your own conclusions as to the gravity of our national situation.

Grandmother Lauds 'March' Efforts to Stamp Out Defects

Editor, Times-News:

I surely hope there aren't very many people in Magic Valley as full of misbeliefs and empty of sympathetic kindness as the poor little misinformed Sharon Tadlock.

I am a 54-year-old mother of four and grandmother of nine perfect and healthy individuals. I'm proud of all of them and I thank God each day, as Sharon should, for allowing me to be one of the lucky ones. But I'm 100 per cent for the March of Dimes.

God was compassionate and wants us all to show compassion to those less fortunate than ourselves.

There have been birth defects since the beginning of time and the March of Dimes is one way each of us can help a little to overcome this misfortune. It should be supported wholeheartedly by every mother, grandmother and expectant mother.

Sharon shouldn't be so smug. None of us has any insurance that our next baby will be perfect.

There is an excellent informative article in the December Readers' Digest Sharon should read.

Area Writer Says All Should Help Pay State's Tax Bill

Editor, Times-News:

Several of your forum correspondents have decried the sales tax with the idea that it is unfair to the small wage earner and the large family unit. And one has given as another example two persons owning $20,000 homes, one of which was clear and unencumbered, the other mortgaged, said proposed tax throwing an undue burden on the latter. Did it ever occur to this individual that the owner of the non-mortgaged home may have been thriftier and more circumspect with his money and thus had been able to pay off his loan (if any) much faster? In what way should this situation alter the passage of a sales tax?

Now to get back to the small wage earner and the large family. A large number of the projects advocated by our legislators, many of which become law, are aimed at improving the lot and living conditions of these very groups. Therefore, why should they not help pay for them via a sales tax? Their income and other taxes are low, and in some cases nil or practically so, and yet they are the beneficiaries of much of the legislation today. Should they not expect to pay a modest share of the taxes for their own betterment?

If made to pay a small portion of the taxes required to finance projects proposed by our legislators, these groups would be careful to choose more conservative officials and would be far less apt to ask for or promote costly new legislation than when they pay little or nothing, as is their case presently. Thus we could arrive at a far better tax base than the current one, yet finance those projects which we truly need.

Further, through a sales tax tourists and our adjoining state neighbors, who impose upon us a sales tax, hotel or motel tax or what have you, would help pay for our state improvements rather than have us pay for all of them and, in addition, for part of their state projects.

Finally, individuals with large incomes would certainly pay the bulk of the money grossed by sales tax because they would buy more costly items much more often than the small wage earner and the tax on large sales counts up much more rapidly.

Borah Scores 43 Points In Second Half to Belt Twin Falls Bruins 59-38

BOISE, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Borah Lions exploded for 43 points in the second half tonight to bury Twin Falls 59-38 in a southern Idaho conference game. The victory lifted the Lions into the league lead. Borah is now 7-1 in league play. The loss dropped the visiting Bruins to a 2-6 conference showing. Twin Falls lost to Nampa 53-47 Friday. The Lions changed only one player in their starting lineup to begin the second half, but it made up the right combination. Borah struggled through a ragged second quarter and found itself in front by only two points, 16-14, at halftime. Then the Lions brought Gary Freeman off the bench and the Lions began to roll.

Freeman tipped in a rebound to start the second half and Kirk Charlson added a pair of free throws and a layup on a steal to move the Lions in front 22-14.

The Bruins got their first points of the third quarter on a jump shot by Bill Johnson, but Jack Smith hit back-to-back jump shots to give the Lions their biggest lead of the game, 26-16.

Charlson, who hit the first three shots he put up, led all scorers with 15 points. Guard Steve Preece was also in double figures for Borah with 12. Kirk Williams paced the Bruins with 14 and was the only Twin Falls player in double figures.

Neither club was hot from the floor, the Lions hitting 25 per cent and the Bruins 21.

Friday night Nampa topped Twin Falls in a slam bang game marred by innumerable floor errors. But the highlight of action came when Twin Falls coach Paul Ostyn was removed from the bench for protesting on the officiating. Ostyn had just been handed a technical foul for coming off the bench seconds before the ouster, which netted another technical for the Bulldogs.

Twin Falls, which trailed by two to four points most of the time, turned on a full court press late in the game but succeeded only in fouling.

Both clubs hit 18 field goals but Nampa took advantage of a 20-14 difference in fouls to score 17 free throws against 11 for the Bruins.

Runner Falls Short Of Record in Meet

BOSTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Bill Crothers came from last place to a sparkling victory in the 600-yard run in the Boston A. A. games tonight, finishing one-tenth of a second short of the indoor record at 1:09.3. It was the third triumph in as many days for the 24-year-old Toronto pharmacist and his sixth without loss this indoor season. Earlier, Cortland Gray of the U.S. naval academy pulled a major upset in beating a veteran field in 5.5 seconds in the 45-yard high hurdles.

Crothers, who now has won five cup races in eight days, let Tommy Farrell of New York, a U.S. Olympian, set the fast pace for two laps, bolted from last in the field of four with one lap to go, caught Farrell with 200 yards to go and won by about four yards.

Farrell was timed in 1:09.8.

John Davies of New Zealand, bronze medalist in the 1,500 meters at Tokyo, posted an excellent 4:03 victory in the mile, only his second start indoors. It was a meet record.

Jim Grelle, Oregon, who won the mile in Toronto, was second some six yards back and Billy Mills of the U.S. Marines, winner of the Olympic 10,000 meters, was third.

Archie San Romani, Oregon, scheduled to run the mile, chose the 1,000-yard run instead and won in 2:10.3. Charley Mays of the Grand Street Boys took the 440 in 48.3.

Dick Ross, Southern university, scaled 7 feet even in the high jump, then failed at 7 feet, 2 inches.

New Zealand's Bill Baillie, running in borrowed shoes, held off the closing rush of George Young of Pheonix and won the two-mile run in 8:50.2, edging Young by about one yard.

Mel Jeln, jr., Southern California Striders, who won the Millrose pole vault at 16 feet, repeated at the same height.

Sam Perry, Fordham, who matched the indoor 60-yard dash record Thursday, just edged out the Army's Mel Pender in the 50-yard dash in 5.4. Perry took it by inches, and both he and Pender said the indoor schedule was too heavy.

In events restricted to New England collegians, Tony Lynch of Harvard took the 440 in 51.3, and Crimson teammate Keith Chiappa won the 880 in 1:55.7.

Trojans Come From Behind, Nip Wolves

CASTLEFORD, Jan. 30 — The Wendell Trojans took advantage of a Castleford cold spell in the fourth quarter tonight as Greg Taylor paced the visitors to a 69-66 victory over the Wolves.

The Wolves were hitting 60 per cent from the floor during the third period and had a five-point edge on the Trojans. But the Castleford shooting dropped to a cold 15 per cent during the fourth and the Trojans pushed into the lead with about one minute left and held it.

The Castleford freshmen downed the Hagerman frosh 28-20 and the Wendell junior varsity topped Castleford 47-40 in the preliminary games.

Boise Erupts In Last Half, Beats Minico

RUPERT, Jan. 30 — Boise turned a sudden fast break into four field goals early in the third quarter to break away from a 29-29 deadlock and roll over the stubborn Minico Spartans 66-50.

Boise, getting big inside points from Lane Broyles, jumped in front 21-10 in the first quarter before Minico, with Chuck Siebold and Rich Nielsen got hot from the outside and shot the Spartans into a 29-29 halftime deadlock. The Spartans never did get ahead, however.

The third quarter fast break pointed Boise to an 18-point spree and the Braves nursed it steadily upward after that.

Mushers Stall To 45-44 Win Over Tigers

RICHFIELD, Jan. 30 — Although they never trailed, the Camas County Mushers had to go into a deep stall in the final minute tonight to outlast the [illegible] Richfield Tigers 45-44.

Utah Outruns Utags for 111-104 Win

LOGAN, Jan. 30 (UPI) — Utah's running Redskins overtook Utah State in the second half tonight and raced to a 111-104 victory over the Aggies in a high-scoring battle that turned out to be an offensive dual between work horses Wayne Estes and jumping Jerry Chambers.

The victory, Utah's 13th of the season, avenged an earlier loss at the hands of the Aggies. A crowd of 5,623 saw the Aggies drop their fifth straight game, longest losing streak in seven seasons.

Estes fouled out with two and one-half minutes remaining, winding up with 43 points and establishing an all-time Aggie career scoring mark by pushing his output to 1,916 points.

The old career record was held by Cornell Green who tallied 1,890 in 1959-62.

Chambers, enjoying his best night of the season, tallied 35 points before he fouled out with five minutes remaining.

Utah trailed 53-54 at halftime and as play resumed in the second half George Fisher hit a field goal and Chambers a free throw for a 57-54 lead and the Utes never trailed.

However, the Aggies, with Estes doing most of the scoring, stayed close all the way and the outcome was never settled until the final minute and a half.

Utah built up a 13 point lead at 92-79 with 6:48 remaining and managed to stay in front while forcing the Aggies to foul in the late stages of the game.

Canadiens Tip Rangers 5-1

MONTREAL, Jan. 30 (AP) — Ralph Backstrom scored twice and goalie Gump Worsley throttled his former New Year teammates as the Montreal Canadiens increased their National Hockey league lead with a 5-1 victory over the Rangers tonight.

The Montreal victory and Chicago's 3-1 loss to Detroit boosted the Canadiens' margin over the second-place Black Hawks to four points.

Backstrom tallied in each of the first two periods, upping his goals total to 17 for the season. Leon Rochefort, another ex-Ranger, defenseman Jean Guy Talbot and John Ferguson got the other Montreal goals.

Wildcats Explode in Overtime Period, Surprises Jerome 63-59

FILER, Jan. 30—Fast-breaking Filer blitzed Jerome for six points in the first 40 seconds of an overtime tonight and walked off with a stunning 63-59 South Central Idaho conference victory. Little Larry Hepworth started the decisive rally just seconds after Jerome controlled the tip off. He swiped the ball out of a Jerome man's hands and drove for a cripple. Seconds later Lloyd Garey hit a close-in jumper off another fast break and then Saenger added two free throws and Jerome was done. The decision, following last night's loss to Gooding, all but precluded Jerome's conference championship chances.

Filer started out hot, moving in front 21-12 in the first seven minutes on the shooting of Garey and Steve Sharp. Jerome, which hit four three-point plays in the first half, came up to challenge in the opening minutes of the second period and finally pulled even at 29-all with 4:39 left in the half.

The score was tied four times over the next three minutes until Sharp, who missed [illegible] three times on 12 outside field goal attempts, hit a long jumper and Hepworth followed with a free throw. Pat Williams hit two free throws after the half had ended to pull Jerome back to within one point.

The third quarter was mostly Jerome, the Wildcats hitting a scoring drought in the first six minutes. Meanwhile Jerome, after twice holding one-point leads, tied the game at 37-37. Then Mel Tinker, Pat Williams and Stan Millard hit three field goals in the next minute to give Jerome its biggest margin at 43-37.

In the closing minutes of the period Sharp and Lindsey Johnson scored and cut Jerome's margin to 46-43.

Jerome twice managed four-point leads early in the last period but Filer caught up at 51-51 and then went in front on consecutive Sharp field goals. Jerome tied it on a Steve Millard drive but Lloyd Hardesty got a Filer free throw.

Filer then controlled the ball for 45 seconds before Jerome took over and Mel Tinker was followed with 32 seconds left. Tinker missed the first shot but cashed in the second to fashion the 54-54.

Each team had one offensive try but missed.

Gooding Raps Pilots In Last Half Surge

GOODING, Jan. 30—Gooding held Glenns Ferry to just two free throws in the third quarter tonight and used that as a springboard for a 57-43 non-conference victory. Glenns Ferry, which now has two losses on its record and both at the hands of Gooding, led throughout the first half and went into the intermission on top 30-28 after a tremendous offensive show by both clubs. In the third quarter, however, the Pilots went dead from the field and it was impossible to tell how much could be attributed to coldness and how much to the increasingly stingy Gooding defense.

The third quarter, which saw Gooding go in front 46-32, robbed Glenns Ferry of its floor poise and the Senators had it easy after that.

Big Ron Adamson tanked 25 points to lead the winners, raising his week-end to 51 points. The victory also brought Gooding handsomely through what the dopesters figured to be their toughest week-end. Friday night the Senators manhandled Jerome 72-47.

The mile run went to Chris Johnson of Southern California, who broke from the pack to take the lead with two laps to go. He finished 15 yards ahead of the field in 4:06.6.

Gooding Wallops Jerome 72-47 to Assume Lead in South Central Conference

GOODING, Jan. 30 — The Gooding Senator, a team with something to prove last night, did so handsomely at the expense of the Jerome Tigers. The Senators, who lost their 6-foot, 5-inch center by transfer last week, stormed into the South Central Idaho conference lead with a convincing 72-47 victory. Jerome, which had only one loop loss previous to this game, led only once at 1-0 and never threatened as the Senators blazed redhot in the opening quarter and iced the victory right there.

Junior Ron Adamson again bellwethered the Senator attack with 26 points, great rebounding and outstanding defensive work in the first 16 minutes particularly. But senior Dave Höcklander shared the scoring spotlight in the first quarter and diminutive Ron Silva added supplemental points in the middle quarters. Adamson scored 26 points in 28 minutes of action, three on nifty tip-ins. Silva, who drove for buckets twice, and Hocklander relied largely on outside jump shots.

With the Gooding gymnasium packed, Gooding gave Jerome's Bob Thackeray the first point on a free throw. Then Baumigartner and Adamsen hit quick buckets to put Jerome behind. Steve Millard hit two Jerome free throws to make it 4-3 before Adamsen came up with a three-point plan and Hocklander hit from the foul line.

The Gooding lead opened up rapidly in the last three minutes of the quarter as Adamson hit five quick points and Hocklander added two more field goals to increase a 10-5 lead to 19-7. Mel Tinker was the only Tiger to score during the spell.

With three minutes left in the half Gooding created at 34-13. Then Jerome flurried for 10 straight points. Thackeray hit six—two on rebound shots — and Tom Gane and Pat Williams hit close in shots. But in the final 30 seconds Baumgartner hit for Gooding and Adamson tipped another two points in with a second left.

Silva and Larry Bay hit buckets early in the third quarter to mount the lead again and Gooding coasted home.

Jerome won the first game 55-51.

Sports FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY

Hovey

The Valley Vikings keep right on winning.

And from this angle the Valley Vikings come about the closest to fitting the description of "the team."

The Vikings haven't much in the way of height, stars and other things that usually fit into a winning, or even championship, season. Good height will beat them, mediocre height won't. Valley loses to the really good teams but trounces the good ones. It needs a star to be great, yet the whole team might fall apart if there were one.

Only two clubs, Gooding and Glenns Ferry, who are about the best around, have mastered the Vikings. They both did it with height. Each has a star or two. In fact, remembering back to almost any good team, you always come up with a name.

Remember the good teams Valley had with Rod Hohnhorst, or going back to the 1956 era to Fillmore. Or Twin Falls with Tom Ballantyne, or Gary Simmons. No matter which team you try to recall, you pinpoint it with that one name.

Valley comes the closest this year to providing the "name" man on a winning club with Lawrence Huettig, but his name isn't familiar to area fans as is Ron Adamson, Gooding. Huettig is probably the most unemotional basketball player around. He looks like he's worried about tomorrow's math test with the score tied and 20 seconds to play. Like he hasn't been excited since Christmas, 1954. But he pumps through points, makes all the right plays.

And in that description he rather epitomizes this year's Valley basketball team — and don't think the taskmaster coach Lyle Uscola didn't plan it that way.

Valley is, and has been for the past couple years, a team that you have to beat. Unlike other high school teams it seldom beats itself with bad passes, poor floor play or consistent mistakes on defense. Every Valley man, again unlike any other team around, grabs the ball and looks toward the basket. First the Vikings want to drive, second to work the give and go with the center—anything to get inside.

It is sometimes wondered whether coach Uscola comes to the gymnasium on the night of the game knowing just who his five starters will be. During the fray he keeps reaching down the bench and all the substitutes — take the faces away — look about the same. None real tall, none real short and none making mistakes.

Valley comes at opponents in waves. Coach Uscola on several occasions has pulled his "hot" man, which is considered a cardinal sin, but it never seems to hurt. Someone is ready to take over. The whole crew came out of the same mold.

Uscola is a driving coach. He works his charges hard, chews about as well as any coach in the area, Valley insiders relate. But the boys work no harder than Lyle. The former Heyburn athletic star last year drove himself to bed — at a considerable loss of weight — late in the season.

This does not intend to connote there is no talent on the club. It does not mean Valley would fold if it had a losing season. It only means that for sheer all-court discipline, balance between offense and defense and timeliness of individual effort, Valley stands in a class by itself.

Timberlake Inks Pack With Giants

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP) — Bob Timberlake, All-American quarterback from Michigan, signed a two year contract with the New York Giants of the National Football league today.

The 220-pounder guided the Wolverines to the Big Ten championship last fall and was the star of the lopsided victory over Oregon State in the Rose bowl on New Year's day.

No terms were announced but his bonus was described as substantial. Timberlake, who plans to become a Presbyterian minister after his playing days are over indicated that one of the reasons he chose the Giant offer over that of the Buffalo Bills in the American Football league was New York's nearness to the Princeton, N.J., Theological Seminary.

COACH RESIGNS

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Jan. 30 (AP) — Max Spilsbury, head football coach at Arizona State college since 1955, is leaving coaching when his current one-year contract expires June 30.

With all players scoring in the latter three periods, the Hornets had little trouble with the young Trojans.

Carey Edges Bliss 68-66 In Overtime

BLISS, Jan. 30—Carey's Lee Cook dropped in a field goal with three seconds left in the game last night and the Panthers went on to win an overtime contest over the Bliss Bears on six points by Cook and Larrell Patterson.

The Bears took over the lead in the second quarter but both scored fairly evenly after that and the Bears' advantage was small.

The 25-point shooting of Jerry Rudd paced the Panthers in the early portion of the contest but he fouled out in the final quarter, leaving the scoring to Cook and Patterson.

Jim Calkins and Bruce Robbins were the only Bears to score in the overtime.

Michigan Downs Purdue 98-81

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 30 (AP) — Michigan locked an error-inducing zone defense on Purdue in the first half, grabbed the rebounds and ran away from the Boilermakers 98-81 Saturday in a Big Ten basketball game.

The Wolverines, No 2 college basketball team in the nation and leaders of the Big Ten, dominated the rebounds 62-48, and their edge was 25-10 in the first half. Larry Tregoning seized 16, before suffering a severe ankle injury late in the game.

Michigan walled off Purdue's Dave Schellhase and held him to two baskets in 14 field goal attempts.

A HANDICAP TOTAL of 735 was good enough for Joe Piccione to "beat the all-star champ" at the Bowladrome Jan. 11. Piccione and 22 other youth bowlers topped Dick Weber and Anne Slattery, men's and women's winners of the 1965 all-star championship matches in Philadelphia, Jan. 24. Piccione's scratch total was 579, put together with games of 201, 184 and 194. A special handicap system was set up for the event. (Times-News photo)

Piccione Hits 735 Series in Junior Event

Who would have though that a 15-year-old youth with a 151 bowling average could beat the champ.

Joe Piccione did it.

Piccione, who bowls in the Bowladrome senior high league, rolled games of 201, 184 and 194 for a scratch total of 579 during the beat the all-star champ event held Jan. 10-16. With his handicap of 80 per cent of the difference between his average and 216, his total was 735.

Piccione was among 23 youths bowling in sanctioned leagues at the Bowladrome that outscored champions Dick Weber and Anne Slattery who won the men's and women's divisions, respectively, Jan. 24 in the 1965 all-star championship matches in Philadelphia, Pa.

A special handicapping system was set up for this event in order to give all youngsters a fair opportunity to earn a "beat the champ" emblem.

The names and handicap scores of the bowlers that topped Weber's 608 and Mrs. Slattery's 597 are as follows:

Senior division (16-18): Joe Piccione, 735; Tom Baird, 698; Cliff Hinkle, 679; Glenn Lattin, 657; Rich Birell, 654; Rick Medan, 636; Jerry Christian, 619, and Debbie White, 607.

Prep division (8-12): Randy Seamons, 649; Charles Tennant, 644; Wade Whitaker, 643; Steve Johnson, 630; Mike Tennant, 625; Doug Warner, 625; Dave Paterson, 614; Chuck Harper, 611; Merle La Rae Stark, 608, and Vickie Mahler, 597.

Five of the girls did not beat the women's champ, but did beat Weber by using the boys handicap. These girls were Connie Pyle, 617; Peggy Morrison, 619; Judy Primm, 611; Vicky Herzinger, 610, and Neva Barnett, 621.

Mushers Gain Tie in Northside Loop by Beating Pirates 64-60

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 30 — The Camas County Mushers squared the Northside conference championship race by nipping the previously undefeated Hagerman Pirates 64-60 last night. The victory left the two clubs tied for the conference lead and put championship overtones on their second meeting Feb. 19. Hagerman led only twice, once at the start of the game and again just before the first half ended. The Mushers moved on top 15-9 in the first quarter but the middle periods were tight with Camas County holding two-point leads most of the time.

Camas County, warmer from the field than Hagerman, added to its own discomfort by hitting only four free throws while the Pirates stayed well within contention by picking up 12 free points.

One of the Mushers' biggest leads came with one minute left and Camas County on top by seven points.

Camas County won the preliminary 51-43.

Ohio State Nips Wisconsin 98-86

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30 (AP) — Ohio State put on its finest offensive display of the basketball campaign today and climbed out of the Western conference cellar with a 98-86 victory over Wisconsin.

Anatol Ahljeyyh, White Russion junior born in an East German camp for displaced persons, was the fuse which set off the Buckeye explosion. Huskies Overtake Wolves for Win

HANSEN, Jan. 30 — The Hansen Huskies broke through a large Castleford advantage in the final quarter last night when Jerry Johnson and Sam Kevan started hitting and stalled the final minute and one-half of the game to defeat the tough Wolves 50-47. Johnson's shooting was exceedingly cold during the first half but he dumped in more than half of his total during the fourth to put the Huskies in the lead. His field goal with 2:20 left gave the Huskies a one-point edge and Kevan's tally at 1:50 ended the scoring.

The Wolves shot to a quick lead early in the first period and widened it to eight points. Jerry Hopwood scored Castleford's first point on a free throw but Johnson's goal made it 2-1 seconds later. Gary West put the Wolves back in front again and Norm Carter added two charity shots and West another goal and the Wolves looked unbeatable.

Larry Anderson kept the Huskies in the scoring column during the second quarter but Hopwood, Phil Blick and Lonnie Alexander helped open a [illegible] point advantage with about [illegible] minutes left. McGowan Drops Birdie on 18th To Take Lead

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Little Jack McGowan, 34-year-old veteran from Largo, Fla., birdied the 18th hole with a 50-foot putt for a three-under-par 68 and the third round lead in the $57,500 Lucky international golf tournament with a 54-hole score of 207 today. Almost everyone had conceded the lead to the double-eagle shooting of Bud Holscher, who had finished more than an hour before with a 65 for a 208 total.

McGowan confounded them by finishing with four straight threes, including three birdies, as he played in the final threesome.

Holscher, a 34-year-old club pro from North Hollywood, Calif., dropped his double-eagle two on the par five, 510-yard ninth hole of the Harding park municipal course. Even rarer than a hole-in-one, the double-eagle carried Holscher into the early lead.

McGowan's great finish left the Californian one stroke back. Next with 209 was New Zealand's Bob Charles, who carded an even par 71 for his third round.

Deadlocked at 210 were Mike Souchak with 68, Gardner Dickinson with a 71, and George Archer with a 69.

Billy Martindale, Jacksonville, Tex., co-leader with Charles at the midway point, slipped to a 74 and 212, along with five others.

McGowan played even par for his opening nine, bogied the 10th hole and then had birdies on 11, 15, 16 and 18 on putts of 3, 4, 9, and 15 feet.

The 146-pounder said, "I played the first nine very ratty, but I salvaged a couple pars. I got hot after 11."

His fine finish put him six strokes under for the 54-hole distance with the final 18 in the 72-hole scramble for $7,500 first prize scheduled Sunday.

Canada's George Knudson ran into trouble on the 18th when his second shot out of a sand trap stuck in a tree and he had to take a penalty stroke. He took a six, a 73 for the 18 and 213 total.

No one finished at 211. At 212 with Martindale were Harold Kneece, Australia's Bruce Crampton, Doug Ford, Billy Maxwell and Butch Baird.

Holscher started five strokes off the midway pace at 143 and reached the ninth two under par. His drive on the ninth went to the right. He took a No. 3 wood, "hit it as hard as I could," and the ball bounced once at the front of the green and rolled smoothly into the hole.

Only four double eagles were registered on the entire 1964 PGA tour compared with 19 aces.

USGA Shifts Formats of Big Tourneys

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP) — The United States Golf association changed the forms of three of its biggest tournaments Saturday, partly in recognition of the established facts of slow play and television schedules.

It also gave duffers a possible out on the pesky rule about hitting the flagstick with the ball and increased prize money for both men and women professionals.

The amateur championship, a match play event since its beginning in 1895, becomes a 72-hole stroke play tournament. The open championship and the women's open, always medal play events, will be stretched out to four days, eliminating the trying two rounds on Saturday. Since 1926 the open has been played in three days, except on rare occasions when weather interfered, with 36 holes the last day.

Prize money for this year's open, to be played June 17-20 at the Bellerive Country club, St. Louis, was increased to $125,000 with 25,000 going to the winner — of the leading professional. The women's open at the Atlantic City Country club, Northfield, N. J., July 1-4 will have $20,000 in prize money with $4,000 for first place.

While television was mentioned only casually, the report read at the meeting by USCA Executive Director Joseph C. Dey, Jr. pointed out that playing the last two rounds of the open on a Saturday and a Sunday makes possible an expanded television program.

Filer Takes Bulldogs in Easy Win

FILER, Jan. 30 — Filer used its first string in the first quarter last night then cleared the bench for the remainder of the game as the Wildcats took an easy 69-62 victory over the Kimberly Bulldogs.

Paced by Steve Sharp, Lloyd Garey and Johnson the Wildcats opened a 25-11 lead at the end of the first quarter. The second string came in with five minutes left in the second and kept the Wildcats out in front 41-23 at the half.

The Bulldogs began chipping away at the lead in the third but could come no closer than the final score.

The Filer junior varsity won the preliminary game 66-57.

Goodrich Leads UCLA Victory

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP) — Ten straight points by Gail Goodrich midway in the last half broke open a tight game and led to an 85-72 victory by top-ranked UCLA over Loyola of Chicago tonight in Chicago Stadium.

Gail Goodrich's outburst that pushed the Bruins ahead 61-50. The game had been tied eight times and the lead exchanged 11 times.

The victory atoned for an 87-82 UCLA loss to Iowa in the Stadium Friday night and left the Bruins with a 14-2 mark for the season. It was accomplished without the services of ace scorer Keith Erickson, who sat out with a pulled groin muscle.

Madison Nips Burley, Evens Series

REXBURG, Jan. 30 — Madison took revenge upon the Burley Bobcats in Eastern Idaho conference action last night by reversing last week's defeat at Burley 66-42.

Madison's mid-first quarter break away score of 21-1 set the pace which the Burley quintet could not follow.

When the Madison bench came out in the final quarter they managed to push up the score by 27 points. Lee Sutton led the reserves with 10 points. Auts Fujimoto added seven in the final canto for the Bobcats.

Score by quarters:

Madison	16	30	49	66
Burley	6	15	33	42

Individual scoring: Madison Webster 7, Grover 2, Daniels 12, Clark 15 and Matthews 7; Burley: S. Church 2, Mallory 16, Hanes 7, Schorzman 8 and T Jones 6.

Moore Says AFL Not Ready for "World Series"

ATLANTA, Jan. 30 (AP) — Lenny Moore, star halfback of the National Football league's Baltimore Colts, said Friday night the American Football league is not ready to compete with the NFL on a team-and-team basis.

"They might think they are," he told members of Atlanta's 100 Per cent Wrong club, "but I don't believe it."

Moore said the AFL might combine the all-stars in their league "and play our all-stars a pretty fair ball game." But, he continued, "the time isn't here for the two to play a world series of football game, or anything like that."

Kidd Takes Slalom, Cup

ASPEN, Colo., Jan. 30 (AP) — Colorado university skier Billy Kidd flashed through the 68 gates of the men's slalom course today to win the Roch cup competition with a two-run time of 102.4 seconds.

Peter Duncan of Nelson, B.C., was second, with Kidd's teammate Jim Heuga finishing third. Bill Marolt of Aspen was fourth.

The victory, coupled with Kidd's conquest of the 100-man field in Friday's downhill event, gave the 1964 Olympic silver model winner an excellent chance to win the combined title for the second straight year. A giant slalom race Sunday winds up the event.

Nancy Green, Vancouver, B.C., came from third place after the first run of the women's slalom to win the event by one-tenth of a second over Linda Meyers, Western state college.

Chuvalo's Chance, Comeback of Patterson Await Monday Test

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Floyd Patterson, a champ at 21 and a frustrated ex-champ at 30, hopes to edge closer to Sonny Liston and champion Cassius Clay Monday night by disposing of George Chuvalo, a sturdy Canadian with a solid punch.

For Chuvalo this is a chance of a lifetime, an opportunity to test his explosive left against the fragile jaw of the only man ever to win the world heavyweight title twice. Patterson is the favorite at about 9-5 man to man. Lured by the prospect of seeing Patterson in Madison Square garden for the first time since 1956 and sensing the dramatic possibilities involved in this clash of the rich once-great and the eager newcomer, boxing fans are expected to pack the garden to its 18,000 capacity. It is the first major fight show in the garden since Clay and Doug Jones sold out the arena in 1963.

Chuvalo, held the Canadian title on and off for years but never hit the big time until he knocked out Doug Jones last Oct. 2. His record of 29-8 includes defeats by such fighters as Howard King, Pat McMurtry, Pete Rademacher, Bob Cleroux, Joe Erskine and Zora Folley.

He is primarily a left hooker although his trainer, Ted McWhorter, has been beefing up his right-hand punch by constant work. The Toronto heavy takes a good punch but has a tendency to cut. In the past he usually has been a fine target for a good left jab. He has scored 23 knockouts. In 1961 Chuvalo was disqualified in the fifth round of a fight with Joe Erskine.

As Patterson himself put it, "we both are aggressive fighters. One of us is going to have to give ground. In 45 pro fights since he returned from the 1952 Olympics as a champion, Patterson has a 41-4 record. He has knocked out 31 victims and has been knocked out three times, once by Ingemar Johansson and twice by Liston.

Under New York rules, the state athletic commission will name two judges and a referee at ringside. They will score the 12-round match by the five point system. The usual rules will be in force.

Patterson, the youngest ever to win the title when he beat Archie Moore in 1956 lost it to Johansson in 1959. He won it back from Ingo in 1960 and lost it to Liston in 1962 at Chicago.

This will be his fourth fight in 13 months including knockouts over Santo Amonti and Charley Powell and a decision over Eddie Machen. In his last garden bout, also a 12-rounder he outpointed Hurricane Jackson in an elimination match, June 8, 1956, sustaining a broken hand in the process.

Since losing a 10-round decision to Folley at Cleveland, Jan. 17, 1964, Chuvalo has stopped Hugh Mercier, Don Prout, Doug Jones and Calvin Butler.

The Garden is giving it the big fight treatment with a noon weigh-in Monday in the garden lobby.

Liston Is Acquitted in Denver Court

DENVER, Jan. 30 (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston was acquitted of drunk driving charges tonight by a six-member Denver county court jury.

The jury deliberated for 90 minutes before delivering the verdict to Judge John F. Sanchez.

Liston, who smiled as the jurors filed past him on their way out of the courtroom, said he was surprised by the decision. He said he intended to celebrate his acquittal with "a good night's sleep."

Liston, who admitted during the trial he had been "uncooperative" with arresting officers Christmas day, charged that his treatment by police would have "made a preacher belligerent."

The fighter told the court he lost his temper when police told him he was being arrested for drunken driving.

"I wasn't driving," Liston said. "I was arrested because they knew I was Sonny Liston."

A sound film and two newsreels introduced by the prosecution showed the fighter to be belligerent and, police said, intoxicated.

Judge Sanchez, in ruling that the decision of intoxication belonged to the jury, turned down a defense move to admit the testimony of Dr. Lawrence Kier, a Denver general hospital toxocologist.

Football Row Carries Into Senate Probe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP) — Professional football may be in deeper trouble with congress than it suspects for secretly hiring college stars still playing for the old school team.

Some senators aroused by the recent disclosures of premature signings have an angry eye trained smack on the sports tycoons' most sensitive spot — their pocketbooks. Usually congress gets mad at the sports barons then backs down, but it doesn't necessarily have to be that way.

Not all senators are pleased with big time baseball either — for instance, some of the juggling and attempted juggling of baseball franchises from city to city.

The row will take definite form in hearings by the senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee on legislation dealing with antitrust problems of the major pro team sports — football, baseball, basketball and hockey.

Commissioners and player representatives of all sports are scheduled to be called as witnesses in the hearings.

Red Wings Nip Chicago 3-1

DETROIT, Jan. 30 (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings scored twice in the first two periods and again with 10 seconds left to defeat the Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 in a National Hockey league contest tonight.

Ted Lindsay broke a scoreless deadlock at 13:09 of the opening period.

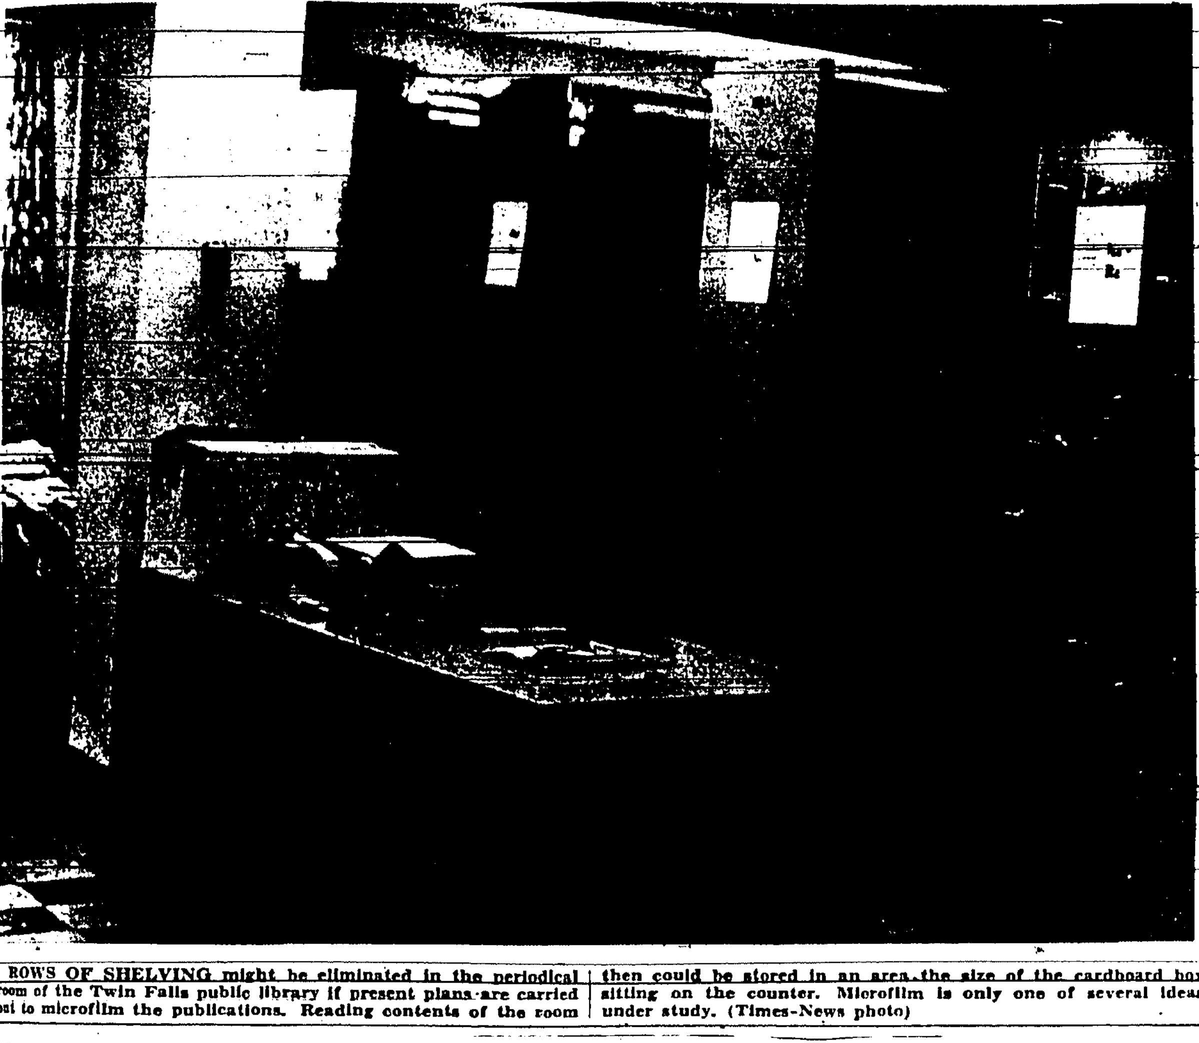
Library Board Undertakes Plan To Boost Facility for T.F. College

By G. H. CHAMBERS

DISCUSSION OF future needs is held by H. Ted Roth, left, chairman, Twin Falls library board, and Mrs. Alice T. Haynes, Twin Falls public librarian. Expansion of existing facility is under study by the board. (Times-News photo)



ROWS OF SHELVING might be eliminated in the periodical room of the Twin Falls public library if present plans are carried out to microfilm the publications. Reading contents of the room then could be stored in an area the size of the cardboard box sitting on the counter. Microfilm is only one of several ideas under study. (Times-News photo)

In the percentage of residents living in areas with tax supported library service Idaho is ranked 50th in the 50 states. Instead of competing against the southern states, like it does in education, the state occupys 50th place alone.

However this last place attitude is not prevelant in Twin Falls, claims H. Ted Roth, chairman, Twin Falls library board. The creation of a junior college district in Twin Falls county has placed increased emphasis on the existing city library. The board realizes that an institution of higher learning will depend much on the library facilities available and the board also recognizes that it will be some time before a junior college can have its own library.

The board is currently studying proposals which will increase the use and service of the existing facility. It is planning ahead.

We are now in the process of putting together a study which will outline our needs for the next 10 years. It will be complete enough to satisfy the needs of those attending a junior college. In fact it might be possible that the present facility could be expanded enough to serve the college patrons indefinitely," Roth said.

Despite the fact that the state stands at the bottom of the list in many library functions, the Twin Falls public library has been recently recognized as one of the outstanding libraries in the nation.

Another startling fact is that the present city facility has excellent use. The population of the town is a little over 20,000 and there are over 11,000 registered readers at the library. The average per capita use is about seven to 10 books per year.

The shining example of use and service might well be traced back to the days when the library was formed. In 1907 citizens began having Boston baked bean sales to finance the start of a reading room. Also, rides on a pony cart were sold to buy books and reading material.

Arthur L. DeVolder, a former city librarian, wrote a panoramic history of the present library and colorfully illustrated the attempts by citizens to bulid a satisfactory library.

The present building was the result of a $27,500 city bond issue and matching funds from the public works administration. The building was dedicated on Nov. 2, 1939.

The structure was constructed to last hundreds of years and, according to studies made by the board since, the building is in excellent condition structurally. Some of the paint, lighting, and minor facilities might leave more to be desired.

Because of the soundness of the building the board feels that the present building could be extended and enlarged. This would be cheaper and serve the existing and future needs of the community for many years.

For this reason, the board approached the city commission a year ago with the proposal that it be given authority to purchase the property at the rear of the building under a lease-purchase agreement. The city fathers approved the action and the property will be acquired, it is hoped, sometime this year. Until the building is expanded the area could be used for parking. The additional property is being acquired with no increase in tax funds.

It is anticipated that a 50-foot extension, full width of the building, could be added with no dent necessary into the taxpayers' pocket.

At the present time there are almost 45,000 volumes in the building and the proposed addition would provide space for an additional 45,000 books. Total 1964 circulation to date has been over 117,000 books.

Another feature which is currently under study and likely to be installed will be microfilm equipment. Periodicals and other material could be microfilmed and could open up almost half of the basement for other uses. Half a building full of volumes placed on microfilm would fit into an ordinary sized grocery box. This, in itself, is cheap expansion.

At the present time the office space is divided and it is proposed that the offices be combined. Plans call for the addition of things like typing rooms, record listening rooms and a meeting room with access to the outside of the building. This would provide the board and other groups with a room independent of usual operating hours.

Another thought that is being explored is the establishment of a browsing room.

The present building is used more than the average citizen realizes, claims Roth. Children's story hours are held in the building and children's creative drama classes meet in the building. Local artists have used the buildings for exhibits, and tryouts for Community Children's theater have been conducted in the building.

The present librarian is Mrs. Alice T. Haynes, a graduate librarian. The board also boasts of a graduate librarian, Mrs. Kenneth Keveren.

Other board members include Dr. E. M. Wright, City commissioner John Flatt, Mrs. U. N. Terry, and Roth.

In the immediate future is a program to install the use of a bookmobile, serving a region instead of the city. Some matching funds could be available for this purpose. Regional library with bookmobile has been successfully used in Pocatello with excellent results, said Roth.

The junior college has placed increased pressure on the present facility and brought it sharply into focus. The board is active in a program which will provide service, use and facility not only to Twin Falls, but it will be ready for the college student and the rural student if present plans can be put into action.

Payroll, Billing Machine Speeds Sales Analysis of Local Food Plant

There's a new machine at the offices of the Idaho Frozen Foods, Inc., and there is a little card on the side of it that is probably more truth than poetry.

The card states: "I'm the brains of this outfit." That might be putting it a little bluntly, but it is practically the truth and the officials of the company with the new machine are the first to admit it.

Now that the frozen foods company is the largest independent manufacturing company in the city, employing around 250 people who live in such places as Castleford, Jerome, Buhl, Kimberly and Twin Falls, the need for the machine became apparent. As a result, the firm has the first one in town.

Technically, the new machine is known as the Compu-Tronic 35, which embodies electronic calculation capabilities and feeds combined information with conventional printing of hard copy in human language.

The comptronic billing and payroll machine is capable of turning out figures much faster than anyone can think.

In addition, it will provide sales analysis figures for the foods company as a tape punched here will go to the huge data processing center at Denver and the information shown will then come back to Twin Falls to blend into a better company operation.

The unique machine is the brainchild of the National Cash Register company and was installed here by Kent L. Ahlschlager, the local representative.

A similar machine is expected to be in operation at the Independent Meat company office early in February.

L. W. (Vern) Routh, company president and general manager, and James H. Stokes, office manager, point out that such a machine operation became a necessity because the local plant, started three years ago, now makes shipments of products nationally.

The billing operation itself, not even counting payroll figures, became an almost impossible task without a "brain" faster than a human one.

The Kimberly plant of the foods company, which has been operating for nine years, still is producing hash brown potatoes. The plant in Twin Falls specialized in French fried, hash brown and whole peeled.

During the nine-month processing season the company uses in excess of one-half million hundred-weight of potatoes. The finished product goes to every state in the union, records show.

With the new equipment, errors are practically non-existent, officials report, and the operator reports less strain.

The machine incorporates such electronic features as split-second speed, electronic self-checking, electronic retention of efficiency and productivity.

It reduces the complicated billing procedure to a routine task, the company officials said.

Special keys, for instance, permit application of prices on the basis of each, dozens, per hundred, per thousand, etc.

Taxes, discounts, freight, interest, dividends, commissions and many other computations all are handled with ease. Each multiplication is electronically self-checked prior to printing.

"We expect that the machine will more than prove of benefit in our vast business distribution," Routh said. "We are getting to rely on it right from the start and it is proving to be up to all expectations.

"Our machine also is equipped with a punched tape device which permits a single handling of data. With this tape the statistical and detail data is then summarized from the tape by the master machines in NCR center in Denver. It provides us with an up-to-the-minute view of the business operation."

FOUR PEOPLE closely concerned with the new billing and payroll operation system now in operation at the plant of the Idaho Frozen Foods, Inc., Twin Falls, are pictured observing the machine. They are, from left, Kent L. Ahlschlager, local representative of the National Cash Register company; L. W. (Vern) Routh, president and general manager of the frozen foods company; Mrs. B. R. (Evelyn) Haslam, company employe and machine monitor, and James H. Stokes, office manager. The frozen food firm is the first to install the new machines in this area. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Dan Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cutler, HAILEY, is doing his bit to help the hungry deer along Big Wood river. An eighth grader, and an outdoorsman, he skis through the quaking aspen and willows for half a mile from the back door of his home to the river bank several times each day, carrying a large gunnysack of lettuce leaves each time. After dumping the leaves he retraces his steps and watches the timid deer approach. At first only three deer came, but each day there were more. His last count was eight. The past few days several elk have come to eat the lettuce donated by Hailey grocery stores.

Cutler has also observed a bobcat, one of the deer's worst enemies, several times.

Several hundred deer have traveled along the steep side of Carbonate mountain, just across the river from his feeding ground, in their attempt to get to the desert.

A comparative few travel the river bottom, perhaps because of their natural fear of bobcats and cougars.

One of the newest and most spacious homes on Camas prairie is the L-shaped Roman brick and redwood structure owned by State Sen. and Mrs. Lloyd Barron. The couple entertained recently at an open house at their new home north of FAIRFIELD. Becci Barron was in charge of the guest book.

The house has a white gravel roof, contains four bedrooms and two and one-half baths. Large picture windows command unobstructed views of the whole Soldier range of mountains to the north.

Shades of beige and ivory predominate with accent colors in each room. Carpeting of Italian olive covers the living room and extends into the hall connecting the bedrooms and Barron's office.

Birch is used throughout the house and most of the rooms have built-in cabinets and desks.

The master bedroom with adjoining bath is done in blue and white. The guest room is in a light ivory called "vanilla" with peacock blue spread and draperies.

The Barron children each have a bedroom. Their daughter, Becci, has her room done in pink tones. Jon, their young son, has his room done in brown shades, with western style furniture. Both rooms feature display shelves, built-in desks and chests of drawers.

Barron's office has one wall of filing cabinets and built-in desk, another wall is covered with a glassed door case for guns and trophies. A matching hide-a-bed and draperies in red complete this room.

The U-shaped kitchen is in birch with blue. A connecting dining room has a large, sliding glass doors and china cupboard. The adjoining family room had an eye-catching "unibuilt" fireplace done in blue to match the kitchen. The patio opens off the family room.

A large storage and utility room with shelves lining three walls is near the back entrance.

Unique lighting fixtures in each room and the lavish use of the correct lamps add much to the attractiveness of the home. The all-electric home is heated with radiant electric heat from the ceilings. There is an air conditioner in the hall. An extra wide roof overhang protects the interior.

Landscaping of the yard is planned after the snow melts in the spring. The home was built by the Rudy Javernick Construction company, Boise.

Assisting the Barrons with the open house were Mrs. Charles Scoggin, Mrs. Mannie Shaw, Mrs. Joseph Cook and Mrs. Rudy Javernick, Boise.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

It's a Man's World?

EUGENE TJARKS
Pastor, Our Savior Lutheran

Eugene Tjarks

There seems to be no little controversy over the fact that men and men only are accepted for training in the space program of the United States. Several women have made the attempt to become a part of such training. Perhaps they do it to prove their patriotism, to show that the women of this nation are just as willing to risk their lives, and give up the comforts of a normal life, as much as the men of our land are brave and courageous. On the other hand, it might be the thought of some of the fair sex, "Anything you can do, I can do better."

It cannot be denied that women have filled with great ability the positions of secretaries and stenographers, of housewives and mothers, and have been equally adept as managers, corporation heads and other positions of leadership. Some churches have long used women as leaders of congregations while other church bodies are just recently considering women in such capacities. Looking at the way women have done well in other areas, they would probably do well as astronauts and preachers, too.

What has happened then, to the old saying, "It's a man's world?" Is this just wishful thinking on the part of men? Are we really living in a matriarchal society? Does this have an effect on the religious thinking of men in general?

Men everywhere might take comfort in the fact that God created man first. In the second chapter of Genesis, verse 18, He tells us why woman was created. "Then the Lord God said, 'It is not good that man should be alone; I will make him a helper fit for him.'" (RSV) God made men and women to complement one another. There is competition in society between the sexes. God intended that man and women would assist each other in life on Earth.

This same complement and assistance can be felt in matters religious.

There is the tendency to say that religion is for women. Proponents of this thinking point to the women mentioned in the Bible, such as Miriam, Esther, Mary, the mother of Jesus, Mary Magdalene, Martha and her sister Mary, and correctly say they believed in God and followed Jesus. So the Christian religion must be a woman's religion.

This is only half the story. Think of Peter, a brawny fisherman, who must have been in contact with the world through his occupation and the time spent on the waterfront, yet he followed Jesus. Matthew was a tax collector, and even in our own day we recognize the importance of tax collectors. Perhaps it would be less painful if a beautiful woman flashed a badge from the internal revenue service and said, "I want to see your tax records for the last three years!" John was a fisherman. Mark was a relatively young man. Luke was known as a doctor. Paul was an educated man. These all believed and followed Jesus.

Followers of Jesus ranged through the whole spectrum of occupations, of respected people and not-so respected people, of uneducated to well-educated, of skilled and unskilled. It is a man's world as far as the Christian religion is concerned. But it is just as much for women. Jesus came to "Seek and to save that which was lost." (Luke 19:10) Everyone lost in sin, caught up in the struggle to live a full life, hopeless and defeated in saving one's self, Jesus came to save from eternal life.

It is man's religious world, for Jesus meets the needs of every man, rich or poor, uneducated or well-educated. He gives substance to life lived for others. Christ became involved in our lives to know our needs, to experience our problems, to share our joys.

The world has enough problems without raising the question, "Is it a man's world" or has this become a "woman's world?" The world in which we live is filled with sin. The men and women who make up its population need to work together to strengthen the moral fibre of our land and strengthen faith in the God who can do something about our sin. Not a man's or woman's world, but a place where the spirit of Christ is manifest, a spirit of love and helpfulness.

Zoning Plan Is Outlined At Kimberly

KIMBERLY, Jan. 30 — Twin Falls county zoning commission held the second hearing on the proposed county zoning ordinance Thursday night at the Kimberly high school.

Dale Despain, Provo, Utah, professional zoning consultant, explained the advantages of zoning regulations and answered questions by the group. After the proposed regulations are revised by the zoning commission they will be presented to the Twin Falls county commissioners for a final hearing and approval.

This also will be a public hearing, according to Noah Oliver, chairman of the zoning and planning commission. All interested county residents are urged to attend this future public hearing, he said.

Oliver conducted the Kimberly meeting. Others assisting at the meeting were James May, prosecuting attorney, and county commissioners Warren Lowery and Morris Carlson.

Two members of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association, Lud Drexler and Vernon E. Smith, both Twin Falls, inquired about designation of recreation areas, including access sites along reservoirs and the Snake river.

Class Offered

BUHL, Jan. 29—A special class in physical education for women of the area is being offered through the Buhl school system under the direction of Erma Callies, instructor.

Classes will be conducted each Monday and Thursday from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Buhl elementary school. The fee for this 10-hour course is set at $7.50. All interested women are urged to contact Miss Callies.

The only American car that's anti antifreeze and pro-snow
(The difference is its air-cooled rear engine)
'65 Corvair by Chevrolet

Corvair's engine won't freeze. Or boil over. It can't.

It's air-cooled. It has no radiator. So there's no place for water or antifreeze.

Corvair hasn't much use for snow tires either. The weight of its engine over its rear wheels gives it built-in traction.

Nor has it much use for power steering. The engine weight off its front wheels gives it built-in handling ease.

And Corvair is the only American car, besides the Corvette Sting Ray, that has 4-wheel independent suspension.

The Corvair Corsa is the only American car you can order with a six-cylinder engine as powerful as a lot of eights— a 180-hp.

In fact, it's the only car in the world available with a factory-installed supercharged engine.

And Corvair is not only different from other cars, it's different from any other Corvair ever built.

This year it's completely restyled. With soft vinyls. Thick carpeting. A roomier interior. And a touch of the continent in its design.

We're proud we can show you a car that stands out from the rest.

STEELHEAD PERMIT CARDS, such as the one used here last year to record a fine catch as soon as the fishermen landed it, have been revised and must show 1965 catches of salmon and sturgeon as well as steelhead. These cards are returned by anglers when the calendar year is over and they are used as the base to project the annual Idaho harvests of these big fish species. (Fish-Game photo)

Comparative Figures Are Probed to Aid Department in Steelhead Study

By JIM HUMBIRD
Idaho Fish-Game department

BOISE, Jan. 30 — Enough comparative figures are available from the annual salmon-steelhead postcard survey and the newer steelhead permit cards to write a very dull statistical report showing what happens during the seasonal harvests of Idaho's ocean-going fish species.

However, the men and women who want to know in general what the future holds for Idaho spawning chinook salmon and steelhead trout outnumber the statisticians by several thousand to one.

Many people who never wet a line are interested, together with the more than 260,000 residents and nonresidents who bought fishing licenses in 1963.

Pages of columns containing figures and precious little else keep the machines busy and are meaningful to a small coterie of specialists.

But selected totals from the same pages give the idea in simpler form about anadromous fish trends in the state, and these are understood quickly and accurately by the men and women down on the farms, in the factories and mills, machine shops and garages, as well as behind desks in offices and schools.

For example, the estimated catch of chinook salmon from Idaho streams in 1963 was 24,400 fish. The estimated catches for the preceding four years were 24,100 salmon in 1962; 25,800 in 1961; 43,000 in 1960; and 40,000 in 1959.

Although at about the same level as the previous two years, the estimated 21,400 people from all walks of life who fished for chinook salmon in Idaho in 1963 are fewer in number than the 26,900 anglers after the species in 1960.

This marked drop in total salmon fishermen is related beyond doubt to the downward trend for escapement of these salt water fish into Idaho waters.

The reverse is true about steelhead fishermen. The estimated 36,900 Idaho anglers who caught a calculated 55,300 steelhead during the 1962-1963 fish year is a significant increase over previous years and undoubtedly is related to the large escapement of steelhead into Idaho waters during the fall months of 1962 and the spring of 1963.

Ted Bjornn, fisheries research supervisor for the fish and game department, who recently wrote a statistical report on this and other material, says that any particular steelhead trout run entering Idaho is harvested during two calendar years.

In order to determine the harvest in Idaho of any particular run up the Columbia river from the ocean, the spring catch of one year must be added to the fall season catch of the year before.

Therefore, catch estimates for two calendar years are necessary to obtain the Idaho harvest of fish from one run.

"The estimated Idaho steelhead harvest of the run that entered the Columbia river in 1962 is equal to the fall catch of 1963 (27,500 fish) plus the spring season catch of 1963 (27,800 fish) for a total of about 55,300 steelhead," Bjornn continued.

"The estimated Idaho harvest from the runs which entered the Columbia river in 1960 and 1961 was 57,000 and 41,300 fish, respectively."

Bjornn gives the estimated Idaho steelhead catches for the preceding four years as follows 1962, 39,900; 1961, 51,000; 1960, 60,000; and 1959, 62,000.

He used a postal card survey similar to that of previous years to determine the number of anglers and their catch of salmon and steelhead in 1963. Slightly more than 15,000 questionnaires were mailed to holders of 1963 fishing licenses.

Bjornn says that the accuracy of estimates of the number of anglers and their harvest obtained in this way depends upon the validity of two basic assumptions which must be made in surveys of this type.

These are that the data provided by the sampled anglers is accurate or at least the errors are compensating, and that the data provided by the respondents is representative of those who do not return the postal card questionnaires.

"If either or both of these assumptions is biased, then the accuracy of the estimates is similarly affected," he concedes.

In 1962, a steelhead permit system was developed under which each angler fishing for steelhead is required by law to keep a record of his catch on the permit card.

Bjornn says it is possible that this record of catch may have improved the accuracy of the estimates of steelhead catch obtained from the postal card questionnaire.

"However, it is quite probable that the 1963 season questionnaire harvest estimates, particularly for chinook salmon, are biased in a positive direction."

One weakness of the permit system is that almost anyone who believes there is a chance he may go steelhead fishing picks up a card. Thus it is probable that the number of steelhead permits issued considerably exceeds the number of anglers who actually fished for steelhead.

But the fisheries division wants all steelhead permits issued in 1964 returned to the department by mail, even though no steelhead fishing was done nor any fish caught.

Bjornn also urges all persons receiving the salmon-steelhead postal card questionnaire, which went into the mail earlier this month, to pencil in the requested information and return promptly.

Adequate Access Roads Seen as City's Answer to Interstate Highway Bypass

Unless access roads into the city of Twin Falls are adequate, inviting and easily reached, the community will feel the pinch of having been bypassed by the new interstate system.

That is the studied opinion of Max L. Brown, former chairman of the city commission and new chairman of the highway committee of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

First realization of the importance of highways as commerce arteries came to him while on the city commission, he said, and now, more than ever, he is convinced of that need.

He disagrees with those who are of the opinion that the interstate bypass of the city will have no effect on business. Only adequate secondary and "leading" roads can make it inviting for travelers to leave the interstate and come to Twin Falls.

"Even then, we have to have a reason for them to stop and it is up to the citizens and area residents to provide that reason, Brown said.

Although his parents resided on and operated a ranch on the Oregon side, he was born at Payette, Ida., on March 8, 1915 He laughs when he says that his mother "came to town" for my birth.

The family continued to reside on the Oregon farm until Brown was in the fourth grade of school and then they moved to another ranch near Payette, where his father operated a dairy.

"Since that day," Brown said, "I've always seemed to be engaged in a business that required me to get up about 4 a.m., each day. It is still true, right now."

He was graduated from Payette high school in 1932, after having participated in student activities which favored athletics. He was a three-year letterman in both football and basketball. His senior year was marked by being on a football team that was undefeated.

After his graduation from high school he entered the University of Idaho, southern branch—now Idaho State university—where he majored in business and accounting.

After two years there he accepted the position as assistant bursar at the institution and then decided to enter the University of Idaho.

En route north, however, he stopped off in Boise and with money a little hard to come by, he took a job as bookkeeper with the Sid Kleffner sporting goods store.

It was over a year later that he made twin applications to the Union Pacific and Idaho Power company for a job.

On the same day, he recalls, he received letters from both companies offering him jobs at identical salaries—that being $85 a month.

During school at Pocatello he had become acquainted with several residents of Twin Falls and so because the Union Pacific job was that of ticket seller for the stage company he took the one that was open in Twin Falls

That was in September, 1939.

A year later he was transferred to Pocatello with the stage company and it was there that he met the girl who, in June, 1941, was to become his wife. She was a public school teacher in Blackfoot at the time.

In 1942 the new bus depot was constructed at the rear of the Rogerson hotel and Brown was transferred back here to become manager.

It was shortly after the first child, "Mike," was born that he entered the service of the U.S. navy and served from 1943 to 1945. He returned to Twin Falls and continued to manage the bus depot until 1948, when he took over the position of independent distributor for the Salt Lake Tribune in Magic Valley, with the exception of the Burley area. He is still engaged in this business.

He was one of the first veterans of World war II to join the local post of the American Legion and served as post commander in 1951. He also was fifth district (Magic Valley) commander and served on the state finance committee for nearly five years.

He has been a member of the Twin Falls Kiwanis club for 16 years and holds a perfect attendance pin for 12 years. He has been president of the local club (1960) and is now lieutenant governor of the fifth division, Utah-Idaho district.

Always active in civic affairs, he served one term on the city planning and zone commission and then in the fall of 1960 was appointed to the city commission to replace John Hahn, who was forced to resign because of conflicting outside interests.

He was elected chairman of the commission in 1962. During 1962-63 he was on the board of directors of the Idaho Municipal league and served on the league's legislative committee during the 1963 legislature.

Concerning his service as a city commissioner and also as chairman, which corresponds to the position of mayor in communities not under the city manager form, Brown has some vivid ideas on the subject.

"The average person does not realize how much time and money it costs to serve on the city commission," he said. "This service truly is a labor of love."

"There is a satisfaction to the job, though, and it is unfortunate that more community leaders do not seek such an office.

"Rather, we find that men serving on the commission are more often people who have had to be begged to run. Many of these good men find that they cannot continue to give so much of their time and money to the job and so refuse to run again after serving only one term."

He is of the opinion that all people should donate at least a portion of their time and money in community work.

"A community where people work together is one worth living in," he said.

His outside interests include golf and he is a member of the national junior tournament committee of the United States Golf association.

In this capacity he is in charge of regional tournaments where the winners go direct to the national. The last two regionals have been held at the Blue Lakes country club. The one this year will be at the Hillcrest club, Boise.

Brown is a member of the Blue Lakes country club and has served on the board of directors for three years. He also has been active in PTA circles in local schools and was a board member of the first PTA unit formed at Harrison school.

In city government, he feels strongly that the city manager form of administration is the best, but adds that because city commissioners actually set the policy of the city administration, these commissioners must be the best men available.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are the parents of three children.

Michael, a graduate of the local high school, is 22 and a senior at the University of Oregon, majoring in political science. Charles, 19, is a sophomore at Northwestern university, majoring in nuclear engineering, while Diana is a senior at the high school here.

Brown is an active member of the First Baptist church of Twin Falls. The family lives at 586 Fillmore.

OLD ADAGE THAT the father of the bride is the most unnecessary man at a wedding is disproved by this picture taken just prior to start of a recent ceremony at St. Edward's church in Twin Falls. With a mixture of snow and rain falling in great quantity, getting the bride into the church was a problem. It was solved by John B. Robertson, father of the bride, with an assist from his wife. They held a sheet over the bride to keep the rain and snow from the wedding dress, while daughter Martha turned to enter the sanctuary where she became Mrs. William Sellars, Jr. (Times-News photo by O. "The Andy Williams Show," (Color, 7:30 p.m. NBC)—Jill St. John and Gene Barry, the star of "Burke's Law," are guests tonight. In a sketch, detectives Andy and Gene are urged to probe threats on the life of Jill, who portrays a chanteuse in a dingy waterfront tavern.

"The Stately Ghosts of England," (Color Special, 8:30 p.m. NBC)—"The Alfred Hitchcock Hour," which can be pretty ghostly in itself, is preempted tonight to allow Margaret Rutherford to conduct a ghost-hunting spree through three allegedly haunted castles in Great Britain.

"Brazil: The Gathering Millions," (Special, 9 p.m. KUED, University of Utah)—This is the first of six scheduled documentary reports from the National Educational TV network on the population problem and birth rate explosion around the world. The hour-long program will be repeated at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

"The Mystery of Stonehenge," (Color Special, 10:30 and 10 p.m. CBS)—Documentary with the latest theories on origin of the massive stone ruins outside of London, which for years have puzzled archaeologists.

BEST MONDAY NIGHT MOVIE

"Road to Singapore," (1940) Bing Crosby and Bob Hope (10:35 p.m. KBOI)—First of the "Road" pictures and not much to offer except for Bob and Bing's presence. Zany tale about two playboys who go to Singapore to forget about women.

Local Couple Is Subject of News Writer

(Editor's note: The following is a reprint of the Don Dedera column which appeared in the Arizona Republic, Phoenix. It involves one of Twin Falls' pioneer citizens and his wife who spend the winter in that area.)

The rich, it might be remembered at this time of attention toward the poor, have their problems, too.

(I can almost hear the readership sighing in unison, "Those troubles, we should have.")

But seriously, an abundance of money can be as vexatious as a lack of it, although not necessarily in the same ways. Getting rid of a fortune may be more difficult than making one.

Take, for example, E. L. Rayborn. He and his wife of 47 years customarily winter in the Valley. They live modestly in an unpretentious east side apartment.

Mrs. Rayborn has a fur but she never wears it. Rayborn dresses in the conservative suit and brown shirt of an elderly small-town lawyer. They avoid night life. Rather, their pleasures are in the sun-splashed, citrus-scented, daytime attractions of Phoenix. His one luxury, said Rayborn, is a new Cadillac every year, which in itself is not a great expense, considering trade-in.

He is, then, a most unlikely millionaire.

But millionaire he is. He worked his way through law school at the University of Missouri and came west, to Idaho in the '20s.

"Wanted to be a cowboy," said Rayborn. Now 72 years old, he is still cowboy-lean of build, and with the cowboy's habit of gazing toward horizons when he speaks.

"Then I started bossing cowboys. Pretty soon I wanted my own place. Today my spread outside of Twin Falls is 30 miles across, with 20,000 acres deeded. Some roundups we have cattle strung out for seven miles. Credit hard work if you want, but a lot of it was luck. Some of the land I bought for $6.25 an acre, and today it would sell for $500.

In 1952, following a setback in health, Rayborn's financial drive took a 180-degree turn: What to do with it. Childless, he and his wife began looking for needful students. In Twin Falls, the valedictorian of the high school didn't have a decent dress, let alone tuition and expenses for college.

The Rayborns bought the girl a wardrobe, paid her way to a state university for four years, and helped establish her in a teaching career.

Since, about 20 other young people have gone to college with Rayborn sponsorship. Eight are now in school, from MIT to Caltech. The terms are tough. When grades fall below a B average, the aid stops.

Rayborn said the program costs about $20,000 a year, and has proven to be far and away the most rewarding of his several charities.

"The fund drives don't even ask me any more how much I want to give," he said. "They just send me a letter saying that my quota has been set at so-and-so, and the bill is enclosed. It kinda takes the joy out of it.

"The real pests are the people who are always trying to sell me something. The story gets around that I am the richest man in the county (which I doubt) and all sorts of people come out to the ranch to sell me things I don't need."

Even toward his aid to students, Rayborn has residual doubts.

"Supporting myself through school was hell," he said. "I washed dishes, mowed lawns, cut and sold clothesline props door-to-door. At times I was so hungry I fainted in class. But I look back on those experiences as the best training I ever had."

Complexion Beautifier

The complexion takes on new beauty through the use of a tropical moist oil that feeds nourishing vitamins to the skin. Being isotonic in action, it revitalizes the plasma colloids (the skin's water carriers) and the complexion takes on a glorious, youthful bloom. Smoothed over the face and neck before make-up is applied this moist oil of olay makes the complexion youthfully clear, wrinkle-free and lovely. Ask your druggist to get you a small supply.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

by STELLA

SUNDAY, Jan. 31—Born today, you have tremendous self-confidence fed by tremendous talent. Instinctively creative, you would not be happy were you not engaged in some form of artistic endeavor. Even if your career should be on quite the other side of the ledger—in business, for example—you will still take an interest and an active part in one or another of the arts. The top is your goal, however, in whatever career you choose.

You have great ambition and the great determination that goes with it. You must take care, however, that you do not overlook the "little fellow" in your climb up the ladder of success, for it would be quite easy for one born on this date to forget all about other people in the midst of concentrating on himself. This trait insures success; it does not, however, insure the possibility of making and keeping friends.

Not one to be emotionally dependent upon others, it may be that you will never become interested enough in one of the opposite sex to marry. Even if you do not marry, however, you will establish firm and unbreakable bonds of friendship with others—as long as you do not give in to an inflated ego.

Among those born on this date are: Anna Pavlova, famed Russian ballerina; Franz Peter Schubert, noted Austrian composer; Robert Morris, American merchant, revolutionary patriot.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, Feb. 1

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—You should be able to carry at least one large project to completion today. Seek aid from those who have offered it in the past.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—The more efficient you are, the more you will gain. These are days for avoiding distractions.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Don't let your desire to keep up with the Joneses spoil your relationship with "the Smiths." Live your own life your own way.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Prospects are excellent for the Taurus with financial experience to make unusually fine profits today.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Where you cannot serve in a material way, you can offer spiritual aid. You may find the latter more useful, after all.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Where you lack practical experience, avoid entering into the project. Stick to what you know best.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—A day in which to be especially mindful of your appearance. The Leo who lets himself go may find himself the one who is let go.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Keep a big outlook on the world. These are not days for Virgo to think either of himself or his accomplishments as small.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)—Your excellent memory should stand you in good stead today. Avoid relying on other sources.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Don't set too great a store by the opinion of others. You must learn to live with your own opinion of yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—The Sagittarius who is a discreet manager of finances should find himself well ahead of the game by nightfall.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Execute your duties with good taste as well as with efficiency. There is more to making an impression than being a big producer.
